Boss Filley Gives His Opinion of Mayor Walbridge.

Distribution of Spoils Causing a Factional Fight Among Republicans.

THE "OLD MAN" ORGANIZES NORTH ST. LOUIS TO DOWN THE DREIBUND.

He Complains Because the Mayor Has Ignored Him in Making Appointments—Comptroller Sturgeon Says Mr. Filley Is Arrogating Too Much to Himself—Mayor Walbridge Keeps His Own Counsel.

The Republican party in St. Louis is again out of tune. If there is any harmony left in the organization it is of so Wagnerian a character as not to be recognized except by elect—or rather elected. The workers, that is to say, the men who do the drumming up at election time and who have not been recognized by the Administration, now threaten to drown out everything with the noise they are making. Boss Filley, last night at a ratification meeting held under the auspices of the Eighteenth Ward Republican League Club in North St. Louis Turner Hall, got out his drum stick and struck such a vicious blow that the echo of the discord he created was heard at the City Hall this morning and greatly disturbed Mayor Walbridge and all the Republican officials, whom the boss accused of playing too low down to suit him.

Success in two successive elections and the division of spoils has split the party and placed it in a worse position than it has occupied since the day when it always had twelve tickets at a primary and two at a general election.

As it is now the Republicans in the town are divided upon sectional lines, and Chouteau avenue is the Mason and Dixon line of the city. The southern portion immediately after the election disagreed with Boss Filley and threw off the yoke. Starkloff, Besche and Mies organized the South End to get a proportion of the spoils. Filley tried to conciliate them, and several parties in the combination were sent for, but they turned a deaf ear to the old man's entreaties.

The combination in the South end was dubbed the "Dreibund," and laughed at by Filley and his followers. Anybody who commenced to affiliate with the "Driebund" were set down as renegades and ingrates by the old man. Still the organization prospered and found favor with the administration. The North end of the city then commenced to make itself heard. South St. Louis was damned by every office-seeker from the Chain of Rocks to Chouteau avenue, who blamed the "Dreibund" for his failure to get an office. Filley profited by the discontent and the rumor that Walbridge was being dictated to by Besche, Starkloff and Mies, soon became noised about. Each day has seen the breach widen, until the North End now has an organization to insist upon its rights.

If the North End tried to stand alone, and like the South End failed to acknowledge the old man, then he was a dead cock in the pit. Filley, recognizing this fact, threw himself into the northern camp, and is now preaching discontent to ward heelers, who are looking for employment.

Last night in a speech in North St. Louis the old man came out flat-footed and denounced the Administration, claiming that good Republican workers in the party were being turned down for ballot box stuffing Democrats who received appointments. He followed this up by denouncing the Dreibund, and called the Administration to account and declared that men were appointed from his own ward without his recommendation. He next took Comptroller Sturgeon to task for employing in his office two Democrats, and declared that their places should be filled by Republicans. The meeting was largely composed of men who had grievances and who, owing to Mayor Walbridge's inability to give everybody in the party an office, felt sore. The old man's speech was applauded to the echo. It was what he had played for and what he expected. The hall was crowded with people who, like the old man, had been turned down, and everybody was soon a grievance committee of one telling his troubles to his neighbor.

The effect of the speech was to array the North St. Louis office-seekers against the South St. Louis organization and start a political civil war in the Republican ranks.

The old man's bad break was the sole topic of conversation about the City Hall this morning. Everybody who had a position was denouncing the old man and claiming that second childhood had struck the sage of Beaumont street. To the practical politicians the old man's game was very plain.

CATERING TO THE DISCONTENTED.

A prominent Republican discussing it this morning said: "Filley was not turned down by the administration but he was given to understand that the Mayor was listening to all sides of the party and that other people's recommendations were considered as well as his own. Filley is not caring for the appointments made now, and not caring for the workers. He knows where one man gets a position twenty are disappointed and the discontents are to form his organization. His scheme is as plain as day. He has two Councilmen who are with him, and he wants the other six to be elected a year from April. Then if Walbridge doesn't give him the earth and allow him to dictate the appointments it means a combine and a broken slate. It was to prevent just such a game as this that the South End organized itself and decided to stand by the administration. Filley knows that the South End is against him and knew the administration had many friends in the North End. His talk last night was to pose as the friend of the office-seeker.

"Mr. Filley's talk about Democrats is all rot. One good position was given to a Democrat upon the recommendation of Amadee Cole. The man was a Democrat and was constantly around the Democratic headquarters. He was a relative of 'Who is Prosser?' and the only time he was a Republican was when his relative was being run for Congress by the Old Man. Walbridge knew nothing of the man and, although Filley did not openly get him the appointment, the man said he owed his appointment to Mr. Filley. He left after two months' service and connected himself with a mercantile concern. When Filley gets to making that kind of a talk he ought to tell whose recommendation was responsible for the appointment of Prosser's Democratic relative. Filley wants the whole hog and is not content with the slice which the administration is willing to allow him."

The old man's speech has caused quite an amount of disgust as well as amusement. Marshall McDonald speaking of it this morning, said: "Well, well, that is a high crime. The idea that Mayor Walbridge should dare to appoint somebody who Filley didn't recommend! Walbridge ought to be tried for treason. I am surprised at Filley's squeal, if he has been beaten at his own game he ought to take his own medicine without kicking."

FILLEY SORE, BUT SILENT.

A reporter of the POST-DISPATCH called on Mr. Filley to ascertain just how badly Starkloff, Meis and Besche had done him up with the administration. The old man's breakfast had evidently disagreed with him or he had gotten out of bed on the wrong side.

"Well, what do you want?" said the boss, with the emphasis on the "you," as he came down from the archives of the Filley mansion, where the records of the faithful are alike filed away for future reference.

"I'd like to see you for a few minutes," replied the reporter.

"Well, look at me then," was the answer in a tone of voice resembling that of the man in melodrama who always says: "Do you know me? Well, look at me."

The reporter explained that his object was to ascertain what the trouble was, and why he made the speech at North St. Louis Turner Hall reported in the morning papers.

"I've got nothing to say. When I have I'll talk to you from the platform like I always do."

"Have you and the Globe-Democrat dissolved partnership?"

"We have not."

"You and the party quit?"

"No."

"You and the Mayor decided to disagree?"

"No, we ain't."

"Well, were you reported correctly?"

"No, I was not."

"What was incorrect?"

"Never mind, that is just advice to the Administration," replied the old man, who had retreated up-stairs and was talking over the bannister.

The old man's statement that the morning paper misquoted him is evidently wrong. Mr. Wm. H. Osmer, Secretary of the Council, and who was secretary of the meeting last night at which the old man tore the bandages from the eyes of his followers and assumed the role of a dethroned dictator when asked if Mr. Filley had made the statements he is reported to have made, said he had. Mr. Osmer is a truthful man and understands the English language, and the old man most undoubtedly said what is credited to him.

WALBRIDGE OPPOSED TO TALKING.

It was thought that as Filley had denounced the Mayor, the latter might denounce Mr. Filley, but he refused. His honor while showing that he did not like the open declaration of war which Mr. Filley had made in his desire for spoils, was reticent about talking. "I do not care to discuss the matter," said the Mayor. "I do not think Mr. Filley made the remarks attributed to him and would hate to think he had. I do not think he has been purposely misquoted, but believe that his remarks have been misconstrued, and then if he did use the language quoted I shall not talk about it."

The Mayor was informed of Mr. Osmer's statement, but still refused to talk.

Comptroller Sturgeon, however, talked more freely than the Mayor and seemed to think Mr. Filley had overstepped the lines laid down even for the guidance of a Czar.

WHAT STURGEON SAYS.

Mr. Sturgeon said: "Mr. Filley went for the Mayor pretty hard; a great deal harder than he did for me. He said I had Democrats in my office who ought to be put out of it. I said that I had but two and they were inherited from that excellent Republican and friend of Mr. Filley's, Gen. Stevenson. One is Mr. Devoy, an excellent clerk, and the other is Malcomb Campbell, the son of Gov. Campbell, who ran against me. I have held a good many positions and nobody dictates to me. Mr. Filley arrogates to himself powers as a political boss which nobody but himself believes he has a right to. The opposition started against me when I refused to be dictated to. Just after my election a committee of seven waited upon me and demanded that I appoint a man named Chamberlain, now in Charlie Wenneker's office, as deputy for the force in the Court-house. I told them I had made no promises and would do what I thought best. I am not going to impair the efficiency of my force for politics, especially when the man holding the position is my personal friend as young Mr. Campbell is. He visits at my house and has eaten many a meal there ever since he was a boy, and my sons eat at his father's table. I can not and do not propose to discharge him. The public first, politicians afterwards is my motto."

The declaration of war as it now stands will result in quite a jollification in South St. Louis as that section of the town claim they have at last made old man Filley show his claws and put himself on record as an enemy of the administration. They take it as a vindication for their organizing against him to protect the the administration from his attempt to get control of the Council and tie up or dictate the Mayor's slate when the big appointments are made.

WANT THE SPOILS.

The Democratic Committee Passes Resolutions to Have Democrats Appointed.

The Democratic City Central Committee met in Judge Spaulding's court last night and vented their spleen against those Democratic office-holders who are employing Republicans when staunch and competent Democrats are ready to fill their places. Mike Walsh offered a resolution which was adopted unanimously stipulating that a committee be appointed to visit the Democratic officeholders in St. Louis, obtain lists of their employes and their politics, and ascertain why the enemy is harbored while good Democrats are battling with the financial storm. Walsh, Jere Sheehan and Mr. Hatton were appointed as the committee. The matter of organizing the city on the present plan, each precinct to select fifteen delegates, these to constitute a ward club and the chairman to be one of the Central Committee, was discussed informally and laid over until the next meeting.

Young Democracy Meeting.

The Young Democracy held a large and enthusiastic meeting at Vandeventer Hall last night. Mr. L. F. Wilfley delivered an address on Thomas Jefferson, while short speeches were made by Thomas G. Knapp, Lee Sale and W. C. Worener. Col. Richard Dalton also delivered a brief address.

The second fortnightly dinner will be given Saturday, Dec. 24. The club now has 100 active and 600 enrolled members. Permanent club quarters have been established at Vandeventer Hall Building, with reading-room, billiard-room, etc., attached. A series of lectures has been arranged for the coming winter. The first will be given in Exposition Hall, Dec. 11, on "Political Parties," by Gov. Stone.

AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION.

Puddling Committee May Favor a $4.75 Rate—Other Changes.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 17.—When the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers met this morning the entire convention was divided into three general committees, covering the puddling and allied departments to one division, the merchant mills or guide, hoop and similar departments in the second, and tin-plate and sheet mills in the third.

The committees are reporting. While the officials declined to give out any intelligence, it was learned that the report of the puddling committee in the afternoon will favor a $4.75 rate, and, further, that the Conference Committee will be given discretionary powers. A 10 per cent reduction in the sheet department will likely be granted also. The Conference Committee will go to Youngstown to-morrow to confer with the manufacturers.

PRINCE EGILITCHEFF

Moved in Elite Society at Chicago—His Mother.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—The Russian Prince Egilitcheff, who is said to figure in the sensational insanity case of Mrs. H. M. Coudrey of St. Louis, is well known in Chicago. He lived at the fashionable Metropole Hotel while here and is said to have been regarded by his acquaintances as somewhat of a "high roller." The Prince moved in the most select society of the city. His mother, the Princess Egilitcheff, was also prominent here two or three years ago when she frequently came to Chicago to deliver lectures. She is well known at the Grand Pacific Hotel, where she always stopped when in Chicago.

NOT IN SIGHT

No Tidings of the Australia Due To-Day From Hawaii.

High Winds May Prevent Her Reaching Port Before Night.

SHE SHOULD BE THE BEARER OF IMPORTANT NEWS.

Revealing Minister Willis' Instructions and the Consequences of Mr. Cleveland's Policy of Restoration—Hawaiians Living in San Francisco Severely Criticise the Methods Pursued by Commissioner Blount.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 17.—There is no sign of the Australia, the steamer expected to arrive from Honolulu. The wind is blowing a gale, and it is not probable she will be in before to-night. The coming of the Australia is anxiously awaited, for it is expected she will bring important news of events in Hawaii. Her advices ought to reveal what Minister Willis' instructions were, how he carried them out, and determine whether or not Queen Liliuokalani has been restored to her throne, as well as the consequences of the change.

The last steamer from the islands to arrive here, the China, left Honolulu at noon on the 7th inst. On the afternoon of that day Minister Willis was to lay before the Provisional Government the instructions which he had received from Washington.

Newspaper men and the general public have for the past two days kept keen watch seaward for the appearance of the Australia. She is not really due on her schedule time until to-morrow, but when the Australia brought news of the action of Mr. Stevens in recognizing the provisional government in April last, the vessel left the islands three days ahead of time, and it is thought that similar action might have been taken in the present crisis.

The Australia is an old ship built on the Clyde, but she was rebuilt at a cost of about $325,000 after being burned to the hull, and came out of the dock four months ago practically a new ship, with new engines and equipment. Naval officers say she is the fastest thing in the Pacific and may reach port this evening.

Hawaiians in this city say it is not true that Cleveland's Commissioner Blount took the statement of most of the prominent people there who were opposed to the monarchy. Full statements, made up by Monarchists, were sent to Blount, prepared with care, often by the aid of skillful Royalist lawyers, who so adapted or kept back facts as to make the most plausible showing of their claims. On the other hand the provisional government adherents waited until they were called for before making statements, and in most instances they were not called for. Those who appeared before Blount included the unagressive, scholarly Alexander, the unsecular Sereno bishop, besides Chief Justice Judd, Cabinet Officers Damon and W. O. Smith and a few others whose statements to Blount were largely in answer to such questions as he thought fit to ask. Not one was called of the Cabinet composed of P. C. Jones, Mark Robinson, Cecil Brown and George E. Wilcox, whom the ex-Queen had dismissed in defiance of public opinion and by the aid of a bribed vote in the Legislature. Such men as Dr. J. S. McGraw, James I. Dowsett, John Ena, F. M. Hatch, Alfred Hartwell, Judges Bickerton, Frear, Cooper and Whiting, J. B. Atherton of Castle & Cooke, C. M. Cooke of Lewers & Cooke, W. W. Hall, Wm. R. Castle of E. O. Hall & Son, Wm. C. Wilder, William K. Allen and numerous other prominent men were not asked for statements. Blount was requested to send for several of them and hear what they had to say, and answered that when he wanted them he would let them know.

These gentlemen further say that when all the facts about the deposition of the Queen and the establishment of the provisional government shall be fully known a torrent of indignation will set overwhelmingly against Cleveland's attempt to destroy the existing Government of Hawaii and to restore the Queen, who was deposed because the intelligence and property of the country could no longer trust themselves to her misguided, reckless Government. It is not enough, they say, if Cleveland has not instructed Willis to order the United States marines to overawe the provisional Government, his public disavowal of the official action of Stevens and Wiltz and of the Harrison Administration and his request or demand it matters not which, for one practically includes the other, that the ex-Queen be put back into power, is excitement to all the evil elements in Hawaii to acts of violence against its Government and against law and order. If such acts shall follow and if innocent women and children shall suffer, the American people, including the bulk of the Democratic party, will hold President Cleveland and his administration responsible. Hundreds of homes all over the country have been filled with consternation and with anxiety for the fate of their relatives and friends in Honolulu since the publication of the Gresham letter. If harm shall come to one American in Honolulu for the conduct or threats of President Cleveland, the sensation that was caused by the gun fired on Fort Sumter will be duplicated and this time not in the North alone.

President Cleveland and his Cabinet have plainly failed to grasp either the legal position or critical nature of the Hawaiian situation. The estimated population of the Hawaiian Islands Oct. 1, 1891, was 95,305. The actual census taken Dec. 28, 1890, showed 89,990, including or composed of about 40,000 Hawaiians, 15,000 Chinese, 12,000 (since increased to 20,000) Japanese, and 1,928 Americans; Portuguese, 8,602; Hawaiians born of foreign parents, mostly America, 7,495; Britons, 1,344; Germans, 1,034 and a few hundred foreigners of other nationalities. With the population so made up it is nothing short of reckless, insane, wicked folly to take the course exposing the small foreign population to the terrors of anarchy. What can a few hundred marines do to stop incendiarism and secret assassination? If Cleveland's orders do not go now to undo as far as may be the dire effects of the wicked suggestions in the Gresham letter, he may find that the curses of the American people will soon be upon him.

GUARDING THEIR SECRET.

Speculation as to What Has Taken Place in Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Democratic members of Congress who dissent from the Cleveland Hawaiian policy lay much stress on the secresy which veiled the President's intentions until after the adjournment of Congress. They hold that he should have laid Blount's report and Gresham's recommendations based thereon before Congress prior to dispatching Minister Willis to Honolulu. In other words, he should have taken Congress and the country into his confidence.

It is claimed by close friends of the Administration that the instructions given Willis permitted of no precipitate action in carrying out the policy of Liliuokalani's restoration. He was, they say, instructed to acquaint the provisional Government, to which he was accredited, with the decision of the United States not to annex the Islands and to say that President Cleveland desired the restoration of the Queen as an act of justice to the ruler of a friendly country, who was deposed by the unauthorized use of United States naval forces. Should President Dole and his colleagues decline to submit Minister Willis is said to have been instructed to follow his request with a firm demand, accompanied by a show of force, but not to commit an overt act that could, under any fair construction, be regarded as an act of war until he had communicated with the Department of State.

If Mr. Willis has followed these instructions carefully it is possible that the Hawaiian Queen is not yet upon her throne and that she may have to wait some time before re-entering the palace, if she ever does enter it. It is also possible, of course, that President Dole and his associates, doubtless appreciating the futility of opposing the United States and possibly rendering recourse to arms necessary, have quietly surrendered, permitting the restoration of the Queen with no more than a protest and, perhaps, a circular letter issued to the powers.

Senator Peffer takes decided ground against the present position of the United States towards Hawaii.

"In the first place," he said, "the notice which our Government had of a change of government in the islands came in an official form, showing that a successful revolution had been effected there. That is as far backward as it is either necessary or proper for our Government to go in tracing the history of the change. There is nothing which I have seen tending to show that the citizens of the United States had anything to do in any forcible way in bringing about the change. Assuming this to be true, it is the business of the United States to treat the situation as it was found to exist when negotiations were begun by the Provisional Government and the proper thing to do now is to acknowledge the existing Government as the real Government of the islands, and to treat with its officials for such privileges as our Government has always enjoyed in the harbors there and to recommend that the deposed Queen be properly cared for during her lifetime."

Mr. Peffer does not concur in the proposition to make the Hawaiian Islands a part of the United States, but thinks we can obtain all the maritime advantages we need by treating with the present Government upon the condition that this Government will protect the independence of the islands in the future.

"I do not believe," he continued, "that any considerable portion of the people of the United States would favor the deposition of the present government and the reinstatement of the old monarchy. When the revolution of a few years ago in Brazil was announced there was no hesitancy on the part of our Government or any other government in giving an early recognition of the change. Had our then existing Administration undertaken to set aside the new government then and to reinstate the old it would have been disgraced."

WILLIS IS SUPREME.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Secretary Gresham in a hurried moment of departure from the State Department to-day gave a few words of information on the Hawaiian question to your correspondent. He said, with some emphasis, that there was to be nothing further given out on the subject. The much talked-of Blount report is not to be given to the public. It was indeed strongly intimated that there was nothing in the report that was not indicated in the Secretary's letter to the President.

"Is it true, Mr. Secretary," he was asked, "that the department has a tug outside of San Francisco harbor to gain time in bringing dipatches from Minister Willis into port?"

"Why, certainly it is not true," said Secretary Gresham. "It is nonsense." He went on to say that not only was this not true, but it was not true that anything further had been dispatched to Minister Willis. This assertion of the Secretary seems to be meant as an intimation that Minister Willis has received instructions and is fully equipped to act in all contingencies.

CLEVELAND'S COURSE.

Probable Action of Congress on His Hawaiian Policy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Inquiry fails to develop at the Capital any response to the suggestions which have come from some parts o the country, most especially from the Pacific Coast to the effect that the President should be impeached for his course in the Hawaiian matter.

Senators and members when asked to express themselves upon this phase of the question refuse to consider it seriously or to discuss it at all. The most that any of them will say is that a question of that kind cannot be properly raised at this time when so little is positively known of the plans of the Administration with reference to Hawaii concerning its action in Honolulu. Furthermore, it is noticeable back of all this harping on the question on the part of those who criticise the course of the present Government of the United States, there is a feeling that there is no disposition upon the part of the Administration to place the country in a position that will be permanently embarassing or injurious to our interests or harassing to our national pride. Many do not really believe that the marines will be called out to restore the Queen, whatever the way in which she was deposed, and there are those who say that even if they should be they should want to see Mr. Blount's report and also Minister Willis' account of the proceeding, so as to know just what ground the Government stood upon in performing this act and just how it was done. Where Willis is known he is highly regarded as a man of just instincts and much national pride, and his friends say he is not apt to do anything rash, if after taking time to look the situation over he finds that the President and Secretary of State have been misled. He is on the other hand prompt to act, and if his orders are imperative, if he has accepted this mission with the understanding that he is to perform this service regardless of consequences, which all who know him doubt, or if he is left with discretionary powers, and after investigating the situation should decide that it was in accordance with the requirements of justice and in no wise derogatory to the interests and dignity of the Government which he represents and re-enthrone Liliuokalani, he would go to the greatest length his instructions would justify in performing that service.

These matters Senators and members say must be fully before them before they can discuss even informally the proper course for Congress to pursue in the premises. There are some who will not speak on the subject for publication in any way in the absence of a full statement of the case and before it is known what, if anything, is to be done.

Others speak very frankly, but decline to allow themselves to be quoted by the press, and occasionally they speak very harshly. Many Senators and members dwell upon the fact that the President failed to announce his policy concerning Hawaii while Congress was in session and they resent his course in this. They say Mr. Cleveland has shown a desire from the beginning to deprive Congress of any part whatever in settling the question, and some assert the opinion that his course was determined upon before his inauguration. In support of this theory they instance the fact that he withdrew the Hawaiian treaty from the Senate on the 5th of March, the next day after his inauguration. There is enough coming to the surface to indicate that the question will receive a great deal of attention at the hands of Congress during the approaching session, and it is very evident that there will be some very sharp speeches upon the subject, even though Congress should take no action of any kind whatever.

GROUND TO PIECES.

Accidental Death of Charles Andrews of the Andrews Opera Troupe.

MORRISON, Ill., Nov. 17.—Charles Andrews, proprietor of the Andrews Opera company, traveling on their own private parlor car, met a horrible death here to-day. Andrews stepped from one railroad track to another to avoid a westbound freight train, when the eastbound Omaha express struck him, throwing him under the freight train, when his body was ground to pieces.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Rumors of a Spicy Session at Philadelphia This Forenoon.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 17.—General Master Workman Powderly began his address of defense and explanation at the Knights of Labor Convention this morning just before the noon recess. He spoke in a very loud voice, evidently being excited, and could be heard on the stairway outside the hall. It was given out by the Press Committee that he had begun a speech on "The Condition of the Order," and began so late because his watch was wrong and he did not know the time.

The session was spicy, even Alfred S. Worley, the member of the Press Committee who met the reporters, going far enough to admit that there was an element of liveliness in the proceedings. He stated the time from 9 to 11 o'clock was consumed in correcting the minutes of the past three days. There was some heat displayed over the matter and a number of changes were made. After this the Credential Committee reported favorably on the admission of five delegates recently arrived, making a total representation of eighty. The question was brought up as to whether or not the election of delegates should hereafter be by popular vote instead of by the whole order, but no action was taken.

The reports which appeared in two morning papers were read and strong denials made by a number of delegates of the truth of the assertions made.

Telegrams of fraternal greetings were received from the State Assembly in New York and the State Lodge of the American Federation of Labor in Illinois.

The published account that Mr. Powderly has resigned or would resign was refuted and the assertion was made that there was no indication that he would resign.

Press Committeeman Woorsley, when asked if he would deny charges of misappropriation said:

"Why, I don't deny that. Things like that happen every year."

Strangely enough, however, he did claim that there had been no charges of dishonesty, but there had been "a little squabble of authority."

It was suggested by him that the report of the Finance Committee, which is examining Hayes' account, be awaited before anything be said about diverting funds.

This report will be read on Monday or Tuesday next.

BURGESS TOO PREVIOUS.

Wants His Client Released Before Three Grand Juries Have Investigated Him.

Attorney Burgess, the colored attorney, applied for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of William Davis, colored, who has been confined in the city jail on a charge of highway robbery since June 17 last. An alternative writ was issued returnable to-morrow, at which time Jailor Kraemer is cited to produce the body of Davis in court. Attorney Burgess bases his application on the law which liberates a prisoner if he is not indicted by one of three Grand-juries. The application is a little previous, however, as the Grand-jury at present sitting is the third Grand-jury since Davis' arrest, and it has not adjourned yet.

Miners' Troubles Patched Up.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The conference between the coal mine owners and the miners was settled under the Presidency of Lord Rosebery this afternoon. The men will resume work on Monday at the old rates until February next when a board of conciliation will be formed.

IN CONTEMPT.

Archbishop Kenrick Refuses to Obey an Order of Court.

The Aged Prelate's Peculiar Stand in the Michael Carroll Case.

WILL NOT MAKE THE LAST PAYMENT ON A LEGACY GIVEN IN TRUST TO HIM.

He Has Made All Payments Promptly Up to the Present Time and His Present Whim Is Unaccountable—Story of the Legacy—How Coadjutor Kain Was Dragged Into the Case.

It will be a surprise to the people of St. Louis to learn that Most Rev. Archbishop Kenrick stands in contempt of the St. Louis Circuit Court, if not formally, at least technically and in theory. Yet such is the case. What is more the aged prelate is not disposed to right himself with the local State tribunal. It is within the power of the law firm of Phillips, Stewart, Cunningham & Elliot, counsel for Eugene F. Tittman, the administrator of Michael Carroll, deceased, to petition the Circuit Court to cite Archbishop Kenrick to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt because he failed to pay to Mr. Tittman on the 7th of last July the sum of $600 semi-annual interest on the legacy of John Thornton, Jr., which he holds in trust. Over four years ago Archbishop Kenrick, trustee, was ordered by the Circuit Court to pay to the Circuit Clerk, semi-annually, the interest on the legacy of John Thornton, Jr., in satisfaction of a judgment which Carroll got against the legatee. Archbishop Kenrick, true to his accurate business instincts, has made the payments promptly on Jan. 5 and July 5, each year. It is matter of public knowledge as well as general regret that the old metropolitan has failed, mentally as well as physically, within the past few months. To this collapse is doubtless due the whim which he has taken, in the matter of the Thornton payments. The fact remains that he has not paid to Clerk Zepp the money due in July by order of the court. The judgment of Michael Carroll against John Thornton, Jr., would have been completely satisfied by the July payment, and the Archbishop would be free to pay the future dividends of the legacy to Thornton or his heirs, or assignees. As it is the legal firm are abiding the time when Archbishop Kain will come to the helm or when he will induce Archbishop Kenrick to comply with the order of the court.

THE THORNTON LEGACY.

The story of the Thornton legacy has its first chapter in the days of thirty-five years ago, when Archbishop Kenrick was a Napoleon of finance in an honorable sense of the term. John Thornton, Sr., who was not the father, but the uncle of the man called John Thornton, Jr., died and left a fortune valued at $300,000, amassed by lending and by prudent real estate deals. Archbishop Kenrick and two laymen, who have since died, were, by the will of the elder Thornton, constituted trustees of a legacy of $20,000, made to the younger Thornton. It was provided by the will that the interest on the money should be paid to Thornton and at his death to his heirs. Thornton is a man about 50 years of age, and for a long time he has been a resident of Dubuque, Io. Archbishop Kenrick paid him $600 every six months, which was the interest at 6 per cent on the legacy. Over four years ago Michael Carroll got judgment against John Thornton, Jr., for about $6,000. In satisfaction of his claim, Carroll sequestered the legacy in the hands of the sole living trusteee, Archbishop Kenrick. The result was that the Circuit Clerk and not Thornton got the semi-annual dividend by order of the court which directed that this arrangement should continue until the Carroll claim was settled in full. Archbishop Kenrick obeyed the mandate until a year ago. Had he made the July payment, the claim would have been settled; but Mr. Zepp, the Circuit Clerk, has yet to receive a check for the balance; hence Messrs. Phillips, Stewart, Cunningham & Elliot have not the usual sum for their client, Mr. Tittman, who in his turn has, for these reasons, failed to credit the estate of Michael Carroll, deceased, with the final payment of the judgment against Thornton. Herein consists the contempt of which Archbishop Kenrick stands guilty.

SERVICE ON COADJUTOR KAIN.

There is another person who would like to imitate Michael Carroll in his sequestration proceedings against the legacy of John Thornton and hence it comes to pass that Archbishop Kain has been dragged into the meshes of the law. The other person in question is Mrs. Thornton, the divorced second wife of John Thornton. In addition to her decree she got a judgment for $410 alimony, in banc, in the courts of Dubuque. Her ex-husband, however, had no visible means upon which she could realize the amount. Mrs. Thornton thought that her opportunity had come when Archbishop Kain went to Dubuque a few months since to take part in the ceremonies attendant upon the elevation of Bishop Hennessy of Dubuque to the Archiepiscopacy. Mrs. Thornton knew that Archbishop Kenrick was trustee of Mr. Thornton's legacy. She knew also that Archbishop Kain was coadjutor of Archbishop Kenrick. She therefore assumed that the former had succeeded to the trusteeship. Hence she made haste to institute proceedings against Archbishop Kain, while he was within the jurisdiction of the Dubuque courts, with a view to sequester the income of the $20,000 bequest. Suit was entered, and the Coadjutor was served with the papers. When his grace returned to St. Louis he consulted counsel and retained a lawyer in Dubuque. The latter forwarded to St. Louis last Saturday the answer which was to be made to the plaintiff's petition. The document was forwarded to Archbishop Kain, in care of Fr. Fitzgerald at Edina, Mo., but the coadjutor had already gone to Mexico and the instrument was sent after him. It reached him Wednesday, and, after being duly sworn to, was mailed to the Dubuque attorney. The answer of Archbishop Kain in this suit is interesting, because it defines with legal precision his status in this Archdiocese. It sets forth that, as Coadjutor, he has not succeeded to the offices of Archbishop Kenrick, under whom he holds a subordinate position; Archbishop Kenrick, the answer relates, is the sole trustee of the Thornton legacy and is the person to be sued. Thus, it appears that despite the activity of Archbishop Kain, he is yet beholden to Archbishop Kenrick even for the privilege to say mass in the diocese. It is understood, that as soon as the answer is filed, the suit will be abated. Unless Mrs. Thornton finds a way and the means to to sequester the legacy in the courts of St. Louis, she will not recover her alimony, for she will never have the opportunity to serve Archbishop Kenrick with papers in Dubuque. If she does begin proceedings in St. Louis she may have trouble in gaining her ends, because, it is said, Thornton has assigned to one Michael Dugan his interest in the legacy after the Carroll claim is paid.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Two Convicts Die a Horrible Death in a Burning Bath-house.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 17.—Convicts at Slope No. 2, Pratt Mines, saturated the bath-house with oil early this morning and set fire to it with the view of escaping in the confusion. Three convicts were sleeping in the bath-house. One was rescued, but Jos. Mims and Isaac Monday were burned to death.

The conspiracy to escape was thwarted.

The two convicts who were burned came to the grating during the fire and implored help, but it was too late to reach them and they fell back into the flames and were burned.

WILL SEEK ADVICE.

Mayor Walbridge Discusses the Board of Health's Action.

Mayor Walbridge said this morning in reference to the action of the Board of Health taking the matter of the city's contract with the St. Louis Sanitary Co. out of the City Counselor's hands, that he thought it was done because the board concluded that it had no jurisdiction in the matter.

"The Board of Health," he said, "has power to act on the contract with the garbage contractor, but it is not mentioned in the contract with the sanitary company.

"I presume the Mayor is the proper official to take action in case of any violation of the terms of the contract, but I will consult with the City Cournselor before taking any steps in the matter."

Col. Ed Butler was seen at the City Counselor's office and said that there was nothing in the point raised by Mr. Nagel.

"I would not collect any more slops by making daily trips than I do now when I collect two or three times a week. The city has to send all slops offered to its garbage collector to the sanitary works. That is all the contract means."

"Why did you ask the Board of Health to prevent any more slops being dumped into the river?"

"Simply to protect myself as garbage contractor. I want the Harbor Commissioner to prevent my drivers from doing it wherever they attempt it. The Sanitary company can handle all offered at their works, and I want them to get it."

KATE BLOOD'S LITTLE JOKE.

She Walks Out of Court Unaccompanied by a Deputy Sheriff.

Kate C. Blood, the female financier, gave Deputy Sheriff Tom Skidmore a terrible start this morning. Her case was up for trial in the Court of Criminal Correction and when called was continued until Nov. 20.

When the announcement was made Mrs. Blood was seated in the court in charge of the Sheriff, she being still confined in jail, arose from her chair and walked out of the court room. A number of other persons, witnesses and others interested in the case, were leaving at the tme and Mrs. Blood was not observed until she was near the door. Deputy Sheriff Tom Skidmore observed her as she was about to to pass out of the door. He called her, but she paid no attention and continued on her way. The Deputy rushed down the aisle, pushing those in his way aside, and caught up with Mrs. Blood in the corridor.

"You need not be alarmed," said Mrs. Blood quietly, to the deputy, "I am not going to run away." She was escorted the rest of the way by the deputy, who did not leave her side until she was safely esconced in the "sky parlor."

DEATH OF MRS. SUSAN O'HARA.

Grief at Her Husband's Death the Indirect Cause.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Susan O'Hara, wife of ex-City Treasurer Daniel O'Hara, died at her house in this city today. Alcoholism is thought to have been the cause of her death. Daniel O'Hara was a prominent man in Chicago politics, and held many city offices. At the time of his death ten years ago he was quite wealthy. Because of grief for her husband's death Mrs. O'Hara drank heavily and since his demise is said to have spent a fortune on drink.

That Advertising Sign Case.

The case against the R. T. Gunning Co., charged with violating a city ordinance in placing canvas signs on the building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Washington avenue was argued in the Court of Criminal Correction to-day on a motion to quash. The matter was taken under advisement until Nov. 24. The Gunning Co. was fined in the First District Police Court and the case is before the Court of Criminal Correction on an appeal. The signs were put up to annoy the Parisian Cloak Co., it is claimed, by a firm which had a lease on the upper floors of the building and had trouble with the cloak company.

A Wordy War.

Judge Cunningham, the well-known Four Courts barrister, and George Hoefner, the saloon-keeper had a wordy combat in the First District Police Court today. It seems that Hoefner was on the bond of one of Cunningham's clients, and owing to the failure of the client to show up, Mr. Hoefner insisted on the payment of the bond money by Cunningham, and when the latter refused, threatened to chastise him. Judge Cunningham retaliated in the same strain, but the men did not come to blows.

More Aid for Mrs. Clayton.

Police Matron Mrs. Harris received $6 to-day for the benefit of Mrs. Mary B. Clayton whose destitute case was mentioned in last Sunday's POST-DISPATCH. This makes $53 which Mrs. Clayton has received, together with several articles of old clothing and the promise of some coal. Five dollars of the money received by Mrs. Harris to-day was inclosed in a note signed "A Sympathizing Mother."

MAY BE TRUE.

Rumors Regarding Reorganization of the Populist Party.

Senator Peffer of Kansas Unhesitatingly Confirms the Recent Reports.

THE MONEY QUESTION TO BE THE NEW PARTY'S ISSUE.

The Main Object of the New Alignment Will Be to Allow All Advocates of Free Coinage to Come Into the Populistic Ranks—What Mr. Peffer Has to Say on the Subject Generally—Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Is the Populist party to continue in the political field? This is one of the questions which are now agitating political circles at the capital, and the question is based upon rumors that the leaders of the party are contemplating a change of organization because of some disagreements among them, but especially for the purpose of permitting the advocates of the free coinage of silver, who have never embraced the Populist doctrines on the ownership of railroads, the bond loan policy and the issuing of paper money, to attach themselves to the new organization. A report of such a movement has reached here from Kansas, and it is stated among other significant facts that W. F. Rightmier of Topeka, who was instrumental in calling the Cincinnati conference in 1891, when the Populist party was called into being, has taken the initiative in the movement for a reorganization of the party upon different lines.

Senator Peffer was called upon to-day for information as to the correctness of the report and unhesitatingly stated that the rumor of the proposed change was well founded.

"I expect," he said, "a new alignment of parties to be found after the congressional election next year and the new party will be ready for our work in the Presidential election of 1896."

"Do you mean that the Populist party will be disorganized?" was asked.

"The Populists," he replied, "will form part of a great national organization which will be brought together under another name. The Populist party will have the same relation to this new party that the old Free Soil and Abolitionist parties bore to the Republican party, which was afterwards organized by a coming together of all the people opposed to the extension of slavery in the national territories."

When asked what would be the issue upon which the new party would organize, he said it would be the question of money.

"The issue," he continued, "is now between the money power and a gold basis on one side and the producing masses of the people advocating an enlarged volume of money on a gold, silver and paper basis on the other. That will be the great issue in 1896, and it is one upon which the people will divide without regard to former party differences."

Upon being asked what would become of the other tenets of Populistic faith, Mr. Peffer said:

"While the Populists have fundamental doctrines other than that relating to the volume of the currency, which they cherish and will continue to cherish, they recognize that the first step in securing the reforms which they advocate is to settle the money question, and they believe that it would not be good politics or wise statesmanship to decline to co-operate with their fellow-citizens who believe just as they do concerning the first move in the solution of a problem which they regard as vital. While we are fighting this first great battle we shall learn a great many things about what is necessary to be done after the victory shall be won (the Senator spoke very confidently of winning) and from that time forward all the old party prejudices which have kept us apart so long to our injury will have been buried and forgotten and we shall be a solid mass of voters ready for the accomplishment of needed reforms. I look for the success of this new movement in '96, and I expect a President and a Congress to be chosen in 1900 which will put into statute law the leading doctrines of the Populist party of to-day."

Mr. Peffer stated that there had been no interchange of views on the question of the new party with the silver Republicans or silver Democrats, but he was very confident that a fight made upon the financial issue three years hence would prove successful. He says that he does not favor a conference until after the Congressional election of next fall, but there are others who think the organization should be effected early in 1894. Mr. Peffer advocates a change of the name for the party and suggests the word Nationalist instead of Populist.

SOUTHERN IRON AND COAL.

Appeal to the Democratic Party for Protection to Factories and Mines.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—The Southern manufacturers who are protesting against the abolition of the duty on iron ore and coal have issued a public statement appealing to the Democratic party for protection to the several hundred millions of dollars invested in manufactories and mineral lands in the "New South" within the past fifteen years. The delegation now in the city, representing the Southern manufacturers, is composed of T. G. Bush of Anniston, Ala., President of the Mobile & Birmingham Railway and of the Clifton Iron Co.; John McElroy, President of the Alabama Mineral Land Co.; Nat J. Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., President of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co.; Frank Y. Anderson, Land Commissioner of the Alabama & Great Southern Railway; H. F. Moore, President of the Commercial Club of Birmingham; Chappel Corey, Secretary of the Commercial Club; Dr. Wm. B. Phillips, formerly of the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York and now of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Co., and several other gentlemen.

The statement is an appeal to Democrats generally and to the manufacturers of the West and South for co-operation in resisting any legislation having for its object the placing of iron ore and coal on the free list and contains a long argument against the propositions.

The following extracts will serve to give its purport:

"It is far more important to defend the money that has already been invested under the tariff on ore and coal than to attempt to build up the manufacture of iron in those parts of the country from which it was slowly passing by the operation of natural causes. The State of Michigan produces more iron ore to-day than all the states put together, omitting Minnesota, and if free iron ore is to be the issue she will need to look to her supremacy. The Southern iron men have resolved to resist the repeal, forgetting for the moment all the differences of political beliefs and mindful only of the better and more stable thing, to-wit, domestic prosperity. Millions of dollars have been invested in the South in the mining of iron ore and coal on the supposition, and a reasonable one, too, that they would not be put in jeopardy in the house of their friends. If the duty is repealed and there should follow the erection of furnaces on the coast, as is now anticipated, what is to become of the investment already made? It is easy enough to say, after furnaces have been blown out and rolling mills closed down, that a mistake has been made, but that will not repair the wrong.

THE subject of Dr. Holland's sermon for next Sunday will be "The Society Woman."

WILL MEET THE KATY'S CUT.

Association Lines to Be Granted That Privilege—Railroad Notes.

After waiting patiently over two weeks for the Western Passenger Association to take some action on his proposition, General Passenger Agent Barker of the M., K. & T. became disgusted yesterday afternoon and announced that beginning Tuesday, Dec. 12, the Katy would inaugurate harvest excursions from Missouri points, St. Louis, Hannibal, Higbee, Moberly, Sedalia and other cities to Texas points at one fare for the round trip. The excursion tickets good every second Tuesday in December, January, February, March, April and May. This action on the part of Mr. Barker will create something of a sensation in railroad circles, for while the M., K. & T. is not a member of the association the road is subject to a boycott by association lines. Mr. Barker explained this morning that he had certainly shown a disposition to be friendly with the Association lines, but he did not like the idea of being treated with the utmost indifference in the premises. He attended the last meeting of the association and asked the lines to adopt these harvest excursions which Chairman Caldwell agreed to take under consideration. The matter has been under consideration for some time now, and numerous telegrams and letters have been addressed to the Association Chairman concerning the matter, but no response of any kind has been received at the general passenger department of the M. K. & T. Seeing that no expression could be obtained for Mr. Caldwell until too late to inaugerate the harvest excursion, Mr. Barker took the matter in his own hands and made the rate regardless of the association.

When the rate was announced this morning the St. Louis & San Francisco, Cotton Belt and Iron Mountain signified their intention of meeting the rate, and the Iron Mountain & 'Frisco have informed Chairman Caldwell of their intention, the Cotton Belt being an independent line. As the natural consequence of the action of these roads all St. Louis-Texas lines will be granted the same privilege.

President Parker and Assistant General Manager Parker returned this morning from a tour of inspection of the Cairo Short Line. The road is reported in an excellent condition and the prospects for a heavy business during the winter exceedingly flattering.

Telegraphic reports from Cincinnati are to the effect that George Warfel, General Passenger Agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern will be made Assistant General Passenger Agent and removed from St. Louis to Cincinnati. While there are reasons to believe that the report is correct, no such information has been received at the St. Louis offices.

Vice-President and General Manager Thomas C. Purdy of the M., K. & T. returned this morning from Galveston, where he has been attending the injunction proceedings brought against the company by the I. & G. N., restraining the Katy from entering Galveston by the use of the tracks of the G., H. & H. As a result of the proceedings the M., K. & T. has been shut out of Galveston, the terminus for the present being Houston, the M., K. & T. Galveston passengers now being cared for at Houston by the Santa Fe until other arrangements can be made.

The Missouri Pacific officials and the Kansas Railroad Commissioners have locked horns as a result of the Missouri Pacific taking off its regular passenger train between Topeka and Fort Scott, and substituting a slow mixed train. The commissioners have ordered the train restored, but the railroad officials refuse to comply with the request. The matter will be settled in court.

Chief Rate Clerk D. N. Bowman of the Missouri Pacific will resign Dec. 1 to identify himself with the Texas & Pacific.

DISCREDIT THE REPORT.

St. Louis Priests Do Not Believe Any Bishop of Sioux City Will Be Named.

The report that the names of Fr. J. J. McGlynn, pastor of St. Rose's Church, and J. Harty of St. Leo's Church, both of this city, have been sent to Rome as candidates for the bishopric of Sioux City, Io., is discredited by persons in a position to know the truth of the matter. Fr. J. J. O'Brien, assistant to Fr. Harty, said to-day that the choice of candidates for the see of Sioux City is very remote. "The see has not been organized," said he, "and therefore the priests of Sioux City have no authotity to consider names for the bishopric. If Sioux City were made an episcopal see it would take from the territory of Archbishop Hennessy of Dubuque and Bishop Cosgrove of Davenport, and therefore their consent would be needed, in addition to the recommendation of Archbishop Hennessy in his capacity of metropolitan. The priests of Sioux City would have nothing to say with regard to the creation of the See. They are perhaps desirous to have their city made a diocese, and they may have talked over the fitness of different priests for the bishopric. At any rate the report reached St. Louis the day before yesterday that a St. Louis pastor whose initials were J. J. had been recommended for the see. As Fr. Harty was the second candidate for the bishopric of St. Joseph, the conclusion was drawn that he was the J. J., meant. Fr. McGlynn's initials are J. J., and I suppose that for this reason he also was supposed to have been recommended. But no recommendations of names will be made until the see is created."

CUT A WIDE SWATH.

HIS FATHER A MILLIONAIRE RESIDENT OF THAT CITY.

How the Young Man Astonished the Natives by Coming Out in a Snow-White Costume—His Infatuation for Gay Women—He Discusses the Charges Against Him Here.

R. P. Dickerson, the young man arrested on a charge of fraud and accused of running a bogus employment agency, has engaged Marshall F. McDonald as his attorney. Dickerson is a man of considerable prominence in Southwest Missouri, being the son of Jerome Dickerson, who is reported to be immensely wealthy and resides in Springfield, Mo. "Pete," as he is known to the people of Springfield, has always, according to reports, been a swell and, like Pete Dailey in the play, delighted to be known as "a country sport." The sporting blood in the young man's veins began to manifest itself early and often. His raiment was the finest the stores of Springfield sold and nothing was too rich for his blood. Pete's infatuation for dress and women a little off color caused him to have considerable trouble before he left Springfield. While the young man always had the appearance of being dead game, he never was considered much of a "spender," and knew the value of money. A summer or two ago, when Pete was at the height of his Springfield career and was looked upon as the swellest dresser in that town, and tried to rival the actors who came through the place, he surprised the natives by one day blossoming forth in a full white suit. He wore white gloves, white hat, white tie and even white shoes to match the suit. The shoes he sent to Paris for and had imported at quite a sum of money. When he turned out in this make-up his carriage was drawn by two white horses. This affair was a ten-days' sensation in the railroad town and hasn't been forgotten yet.

Pete also figured in several little scrapes. One of these was very sensational and caused him to leave the town of Ozark in a hurry. He fell in with a woman somewhere who was exceedingly pretty, a neat dresser and quite refined. The pair went to Ozark and Pete introduced her indiscriminately to several of the best families of the town and soon had the lady on good terms with the daughters of the well-to-do set of the place. In some manner a relative of John A. Lowing, a young man of excellent character, learned that the woman was not all that she represented, and meeting Pete informed him of the knowledge he had gained and then proceeded to use the gay young man for a punching-bag. This occurred publicly; nobody was invited and nobody was barred from seeing the set-to. Dickerson quit Ozark to avoid greater violence at the hands of the big brothers of the young ladies.

About one year ago he fell in with May Wilde, a young woman who, while pretty, had tasted of the forbidden fruit. The woman was a shrewd, cool, calculating individual, pretty and wicked. The partnership existed for some time, when one of the tenements owned by Pete burned down. The pair fell out shortly afterwards, and Pete was arrested for arson. The woman and a negro swore that he had fired the place for the insurance. Pete claimed the woman had invented the story for blackmailing purposes, and the case never went to trial. Pete said he was going to prosecute the woman, but did not.

DICKERSON'S STATEMENT.

When seen about his career in Springfield young Dickerson seemed to consider it as a matter of course. At first he denied any connection with any arson case, but finally said: "If all this stuff is going to come out it may as well do so and be over with. I never was thrashed for introducing that woman into good society. I've been in lots of scrapes with women, but that was a long time ago. As to the arrest for arson, that woman and a negro fired the place and laid it on me. They burned it for revenge, because I quit her, and then she told the story with the intention of blackmailing me. If I had not been going to get married I would have sent them both to the penitentiary."

"How about the white suit?"

"I don't remember it. I always wore the best clothes money could buy. My father is worth money, just a little, about two million dollars, and I am not broke myself."

When asked why he was running a game like the one he is accused of operating, young Dickerson said: "I haven't anything to do with the game. I come in here occasionally and sit down, and am not a proprietor. The proprietor, Mr. Atkinson, is a friend of mine. The day I was arrested I was visiting him. I am going back to Springfield in a few days. I was never locked up, but gave bond at once."

The church was founded in 1840 by Rev. J. Timon, afterward Bishop of Buffalo, N. Y. The first church stood on a lot on which the St. Vincent's Asylum was afterward erected and in November, 1844, the corner-stone of the present edifice was laid.

HIS FACE HIS MISFORTUNE.

Tom Mayes Arrested for Burglary Through His Alias of "Hog Face."

Tom Mayes, a negro 40 years of age, was arrested this morning by Detectives Viehle and Frese on the charge of burglary in the second degree and larceny. For some time past these two detectives have been endeavoring to catch a thief who has been disposing of clothing, musical instruments, jewelry and various other articles in different pawnshops and second-hand stores around town. The description of the man tallied with Mayes, alias "Hogface," and they began a search for the negro. This morning they met him on Sixth and Gratiot streets, and later he was identified by the proprietor of a pawnshop as the same negro who sold him two suits of clothes, a guitar, a gold necklace and locket, about two weeks ago. This property was recovered by the detectives and it has been found that it was stolen from the residence of Thomas Thornton of 1539 Vail place, whose house was burglarized on Nov. 4, entrance being gained through a rear window. Mayes when arrested had two new lady's hoods in his possession, which are supposed to have been stolen.

It is expected that in the course of a few days there will be fully a dozen cases of burglary, highway robbery and other crimes fixed on him.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS.

An Organized Gang Said to Be Operating on the South Side.

The police of the Second District and Detectives Connors and Schroeder are investigating several burglaries committed in South St. Louis recently, with the hope of corralling a gang of youthful burglars, who have been operating with great success and secrecy in that district. The arrest of Albert Gastreich, a 17-year old youth, last night by the police of this district has started the officers out on the theory that Gastreich is the leader of the nefarious crowd of young men. Gastreich was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. A. J. Herberg of 2733 South Broadway, who said that during her absence from her house he entered the place and stole $15.75. After his arrest the Second District officers received word that Gastreich was at the head of a very shrewd crowd of young men who reside in Mrs. Herberg's neighborhood. It is probable that a number of arrests will be made to-night. Gastreich is a native of Denver, Colo. His father recently died in that city.

A Grocery Clerk Arrested.

S. W. Buscher, a grocer at 2630 Thomas street, swore out a warrant to-day charging his clerk, Jerome Marineau, with stealing $80. Buscher missed the money yesterday and had the clerk arrested on suspicion. There is said to be no evidence against Marineau other than his employer's suspicions. The clerk was arrested by Officer Crowley, special officer of the Third District, who was detailed to investigate.

SMALL-POX

Appeared in the Grimmer Family, Near Mascoutah.

MASCOUTAH, Ill., Nov. 17.—The small-pox broke out in the family of Mrs. Grimmer, four miles east of here, yesterday. Two grown-up sons and a child are dangerously ill with the disease. Mrs. Grimmer's place is near a country school-house and there have been a number of exposures. The State Board of Health sent out instructions to-day and all precautions will be taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

Interest in Its Affairs Continues Unabated—Rumors.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The keenest interest continues to be manifested in the affairs of the Bank of England, especially in city circles, but beyond what has already been cabled to America, there are few developments. It is stated to-day that the directors have not come to any decision and it is generally thought that there will be no resignations among the directors.

The Westminster Gazette attempts to infer that there was a connection between the retirement of Cashier May and the resignation of the financial editor of the Times. The report that such a connection existed is said to be unfounded.

PRESENTED NEW BILLS.

The Palmer Company and Fanny Rice Put on Changes of Programme.

"The Price of Silence," which Mr. Palmer's company presented at the Grand Opera-house last night for the first time in St. Louis, may not after this week be seen again in this city for years on account of the remarkable success of the play in Chicago last week. The triumph of the piece has determined Mr. Palmer to take it to New York and give it a long run before he permits it to be placed on the road. The play is an adaptation from the German, and is rich in uniqueness, which characterizes the dramas of the Fatherland. "The Price of Silence" will be repeated to-morrow evening.

Fanny Rice appeared at the Hagan last night in a new play, "Miss Innocence Abroad," an adaptation from the French by F. C. Philips and Charles Brookfield. She had the play in rehearsal for three months. It is a straight comedy which has had long runs in London and Paris and afforded Miss Rice an opportunity to display her versatility. In the character of Maria, a convent-raised girl, with a stepmother, Miss Rice finds a part admirably suited to her and scored a pronounced hit. Her song "For a Girl" was encored a number of times. It is probable that Miss Rice will continue the play in her repertoire, as it made a very favorable impression and was well rendered by the company. The audience was the largest of the week.

Fanny Rice made her first appearance before a St. Louis audience in 1884 as Venus in Hoyt's "Rag Baby" company. Since that time the popular comedienne has been seen in farce-comedy, comic opera, musical comedy and as a star in "A Jolly Surprise," and has yet to record her first failure. Her greatest success, perhaps, was made at the New York Casino, where she played the role of Nadjy in the comic opera of that name more than 300 consecutive times. During the past three seasons Miss Rice has achieved considerable success with "The Jolly Surprise."

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Calvin Seals Disappears Under Strange Circumstances—Notes.

Calvin Seals, a resident of Venice, is missing. He left home on Wednesday, and this morning his wife, Mrs. Abbie Seals, reported his disappearance to the East St. Louis police. Seals was seen leaving Venice with two small children, not his own, and altogether his disappearance has a very mysterious aspect. He took a violin with him, and it is thought he may have started out as an itinerant musician with the children to gather pennies for him.

Conrad Nieder was arrested last night on the charge of stealing coal from the bridge yards. The police found $130 secreted in his clothing, and afterward learned that he had the reputation of a miser.

Mamie Harris, Laura Belle Harris and Alice Lindsay brought suit in the City Court to-day against Joseph Chartrand for $5,000 damages for alleged defamation of character.

Charles Fricke, residing at Broadway and Walnut street, was arrested last night on the charge of beating his wife. The warrant for his arrest was procured by his wife, but to-day she refused to prosecute him and he was discharged.

A 4-year-old son of William Schaffers, residing at 122 Gaty avenue, disappeared from home yesterday morning, and is still absent. The parents are nearly erazed with grief and apprehension, as they fear the child has been kidnapped.

Mrs. Carrie St. Clair commenced proceedings in the City Court to-day for a divorce from her husband, Charles St. Clair, on the grounds of adultery.

Frank Schroeder, a well-known resident of Cahokia, died yesterday, aged 50 years. He will be buried here to-morrow.

A contract was made to-day for the erection of the new McLean building on Missouri avenue, near Third street. This building is to be a two-story brick, to cost $3,275.

Belleville.

The teachers of the public schools will hold an institute meeting at the Central Building to-morrow. Prof. W. J. Hanson will continue his lecture on "The Nervous System" and Supt. H. D. Updike will explain "The Basis of Method," besides which there will be a discussion of psychology.

Mrs. Isabella Lantry filed suit in the Circuit Court to-day for a divorce from her husband, John Lantry, to whom she was married July 2, 1890, and with whom she lived until Sept. 10, 1892. She alleges drunkenness and other charges against her husband.

Sheriff Langley has returned from Hammond, Ind., with Richard Lewis, whom he arrested there yesterday. Lewis has been indicted here for embezzling $40 from the Metropolitan Insurance Co.

The Grand Lodge of the Treubund Order held a business meeting at Fisher's Hall here yesterday. About fifty lodges were represented.

Miss Rosalind Stratton, daughter of Senator A. R. Stratton of Mt. Vernon, is visiting Mrs. John Branch.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to C. E. Peters and Louisa Mueller of Stookey; Charles Herling of Sugar Loaf and Laura Kleinschmidt of Stookey; W. H. Knewitz of Lenzburg and Elizabeth Murnburger of New Athens.

A Crank With a Pistol.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A crank with a pistol created the wildest kind of a panic in Delmonico's restaurant last night. He was first observed peering into the Fifth avenue windows, muttering and shaking his fist at those inside. After a while he veered around to the Twenty-sixth street side, and drawing a revolver sent a bullet crashing through one of the windows. He next fired a shot at the Fifth avenue entrance and a second later sent a bullet through another window, and with a cry of "Down with the rich!" rushed into the lobby of the restaurant. No one opposed him and he had things his own way until Officer Dillon appeared and disarmed him. At the police station he gave his name as George D. Roeth and his occupation as a stonecutter. His mind is unbalanced by excessive drinking.

Given $400 for Injuries.

The jury in the case of Thomas W. Hackett against Simon D. Rossi returned a judgment to-day for the plaintiff and assessed his damages at $400. Hackett sued Rossi for $5,000 damages as the result of a collision between his buggy and a wagon belonging to Rossi. Hackett claimed that Rossi's wagon was carelessly driven into his buggy on Chestnut street near Twentieth, so that the tongue of Rossi's wagon punched through the side of his buggy and struck him in the side, inflicting painful and dangerous injuries, by which he was prevented from following his customary avocations for a considerable length of time.

CREATED ANOTHER SCENE.

Mrs. Annie Corcor Abuses the Court and Chases Frank Kasl.

A commotion was again created in the First District Police Court this morning by Mrs. Annie Corcor, who prosecuted Frank Kasl, a young carpenter, on a charge of taking indecent liberties with her 13-year-old daughter. Only a few weeks ago Mrs. Corcor created a scene in the Court-room and corridor of the Four Courts, by chasing Kasl out of the building, calling him names and threatening to thrash him.

This morning Kasl was discharged by Judge Morris, evidence being presented to show that Mrs. Corcor's daughter had not been injured. When the Court announced the decision, Prosecutor Goode turned to Mrs. Corcor and said: "Madam, the next time this thing happens don't call a police officer; take a revolver and shoot the brute."

"I wish I had stabbed the dog with the knife I had in my hand at the time," yelled Mrs. Corcor, fairly wild with rage. Then turning to the court, she said at the top of her voice: "Money can fix anything in these courts."

In the meantime Kasl made his escape on the double-quick, but Mrs. Corcor caught a glimpse of his form as it disappeared through the door. She made a break for him and a wild chase from the Four Courts to Twelfth street and south to the Union Depot followed. Kasl finally succeeded in escaping.

The alleged offense for which Kasl was tried this morning took place about two weeks ago at Mrs. Corcor's residence, 2016 South Eighteenth street. It seems that Mrs. Corcor's mother does not entertain the same opinion of Kasl as she does, and there is considerable ill-feeling between mother and daughter on this account.

WILL FIGHT THE CASE.

Joseph C. Good Intends Erecting a Dairy Stable on His Revoked Permit.

Building Commissioner Reid said this morning that he would institute proceedings in the police court against Joseph C. Good for erecting a stable on his lot on the east side of Oregon avenue, between Juniata street and Wyoming avenue. Good, it appears, obtained a permit to erect a private stable, and subsequently admitted that he was going to use the stable for dairy purposes. The neighbors made a vigorous protest before the Mayor, who, after an investigation, revoked the permit.

Good claims he is entitled to erect any kind of brick stable he sees fit on his property, and that the Mayor had no right to revoke the permit before any offense was committed.

He stated this morning that he would go ahead with the stable under the permit issued him, and fight the case in the courts.

MARION HELD.

Conclusion of the Investigation of August Voudrie's Killing.

The hearing of Peter J. C. Marion, charged with the murder of August Voudrie, which took place yesterday in Justice Medart's court, was finished about 6 p. m. The accused was held for the Grand-jury, and his attorneys asked to have the charge made manslaughter instead of murder. Justice Medart will decide that point this afternoon. There was a large volume of evidence, all circumstantial, offered at the hearing. A nephew of Marion testified that he saw the accused with either a gun or a cane in his hand about the time Voudrie was shot. According to the testimony of Coroner Campbell and Dr. Heely, who exhumed the body of Voudrie, they did not find the fatal bullet, as was reported. In case Justice Medart decides to hold Marion for murder the prisoner will not be admitted to bail, but if the charge is made manslaughter he may be released on bond.

THE CAPTAIN AND TWELVE OTHERS STILL MISSING.

The French Trader Rannie Ashore at Swansea—The Bark Lowestoff Driven on the Rocks Near Shields and Wrecked — The Brigantine Bessy Dashed on the Breakwater and Broken to Pieces Near Holyhead—Casualties.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.—The French brig Hortense has arrived at Swansea and reports having picked up near Lundy Island four of the crew of the Cardiff steamer Boilean, who were drifting about in a small boat and in an almost exhausted condition. The survivors of the Boilean say that the steamer, with the Captain and sixteen to twenty members of the crew, foundered during a gale which has swept over this coast.

The French trader Rannie went ashore at Swansea yesterday evening. All the crew were saved.

The gale was very severe off the Tyne. The bark Lowestoff was driven on the rocks near Shields and wrecked, but the crew were saved by the rocket apparatus.

The gale burst over Holyhead with great fury yesterday evening, causing several vessels to drag their anchors. Among them was the brigantine Bessy, which was dashed upon the breakwater and wrecked. The crew were rescued by the rocket apparatus and breeches buoy.

Distress signals were seen in the direction of Church Bay on the opposite side of the coast to-day and lifeboats were sent to the rescue of the imperilled seamen.

Creditors of Henry Krueger Mourn His Disappearance.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN ACCOMPANIED BY WILLIAM MENGE.

The Proprietor of the Germania Cigar Co. Departs Without Warning—Supposed to Have Gone to Hamburg to Collect a Legacy.

Henry Krueger, a cigar manufacturer and proprietor of the Germania Cigar Co., 410 Clark avenue, skipped town about three weeks ago and left behind him a large number of unpaid bills. His numerous creditors have been actively searching for him ever since, but the most definite information obtainable points to the conclusion that he has probably gone back to the old country.

Krueger left between two days, and is said to have been accompanied in his flight by William Menge, a saloon-keeper and personal friend of his. Menge kept a saloon at 2 North Fourth street, and is said to have assisted Krueger in obtaining a large credit and to have enabled him to prolong his stay by guaranteeing many of his bills. Quite a number of persons are interested in learning the whereabouts of both men.

In addition to neglecting to settle his bills, Kruger neglected to pay the salaries of some five or six cigarmakers who were working for him. He owed them from two to three or more weeks' salary each and when they pressed him for a settlement gave them instead the most airy and plausible promises. Though these men are probably the smallest creditors, the loss of their money falls very severely upon them, and should their erstwhile employer ever fall into their hands summary justice will be meted out to him.

HIS BUSINESS VENTURES.

Krueger appeared in this city about a year ago and established himself in business as a cigar manufacturer at 813 South Broadway. But little was known of his antecedents, and for a time he did an apparently straight business, paying his bills regularly, thus bolstering up his credit until he succeeded in gaining a certain amount of confidence with the firms from whom he purchased. May 1, last he moved to 410 Clark avenue, where he remained until his disappearance about Oct. 25, last. His specialty was the manufacture of a brand of cigars known as the "Chippie" brand. He is said to have established a large credit with the Weinheimer Leaf Tobacco Co., and this firm are actively searching for him. The Wiedemann Cigar Box Co. and the Friedman Tobacco Co. are also creditors to a considerable amount. Many other firms are also victimized for larger or smaller sums.

Probably the principal sufferer by Krueger's transactions is a cigar maker named John Oelinitz, who worked for him since March 10 last and never received a cent in return. Oelinitz had an ambition to become a manufacturer and to this end had saved a snug little sum of money before he went to work for Krueger. The latter was not long in discovering this fact and each week, in the place of paying Oelinitz's salary, would promise to take him into partnership "after awhile."

Oelintz was contented with these promises and worked faithfully without remuneration, meanwhile drawing on his slender hoard for his living expenses. When his employer skipped Oelinitz was nearly penniless, but he managed to scrape enough money together to continue the business, and is now posing as employer in Krueger's place.

TO COLLECT A LEGACY.

Last July Krueger neglected to pay his workmen for a considerable time, but they then refused to be put off with promises and brought attachment proceedings against him in Justice Kane's court. He then managed to raise the necessary amount and his stock and fixtures were released. In some way the rumor has got out that Krueger has a small legacy coming to him in Hamburg, Germany, and has gone there to colrect it.

PEIXOTO'S NICTHEROY.

The New Warship's Seamen Clamoring for Their Advance Money.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Members of the crew of the El Cid, now at Nictheroy, had that vessel attached by the United States Marshal at noon to-day as the warship was about to leave for the lower bay to take on explosives. The grounds of the attachment are a claim for compensation for the term of shipping at $100 per month. The men claim they were to receive this sum, but to-day they were told that they would receive but $45 per month. Bond will have to be given before she can sail. She is officered and manned by Americans and is destined to be the flagship of Peixoto's new fleet which is expected to crush the rebel, Mello.

BOMBARDMENT CONTINUES AT RIO.

MONTEVIDEO, Nov. 17.—Latest news from Rio de Janeiro says that on the 16th there was a severe bombardment between Fort Villegagnon and the forts. Fort Villegagnon fired at the people in front of the Misericordia Hospital, killing two and wounding twenty.

There is much satisfaction in Government circles over the victory of American diplomacy in obtaining the declaration of foreign powers not to favor Admiral Mellow.

Robert Grant, United States Consular Agent at Desterro, has been made a prisoner by the revolutionists. He was arrested during the skirmish between the Government troops and Gen. Saravi, and is now confined on the revolutionary steamer Iris, which is off Desterro. The only crime of which he is accused is said to be that he did not favor the revolutionists. Robert Grant was appointed Consular agent at Desterro, Brazil, in 1887 by President Cleveland.

Admiral Saldanha da Gama has assumed command of the rebel fleet. He has assured Admiral Mello that he will direct the operation of the revolutionary forces in Rio Grande do Sul.

There was an incident in the harbor of Rio yesterday which almost precipitated a conflict between Fort Santa Cruz and the English squadron. The British steamer Nile was making for the harbor, but the guns of the fort impeded her. The English warship Beagle was notified and convoyed the Nile. She was ready to fire on the fort at the first sign of hostility. Under the protection of the Beagle the Nile was permitted to enter without further trouble.

Receiver R. S. Calloway, General Superintendent Mills and General Auditor Davis of the Clover Leaf are in the city to-day making an inspection of the terminals. Receiver Calloway is painfully silent on the St. Louis-New York through service, although it was intimated that the Clover will shortly inaugurate its through service via Buffalo

From the Atchison Globe.

Another thing a woman always hates: A stepfather.

PROVED A BOOMERANG.

Patrick Mullen Tried to Fool the Police and Entrapped Himself.

Patrick Mullen and William Jones, two men claiming to have arrived here recently from Chicago, are behind the bars at the Third District Station charged with burglary and larceny. About 8 o'clock last night burglars with a diamond cut through the glass door of Isaac Russack & Bro.'s clothing factory at 712 and 714 Lucas avenue and stole nineteen pairs of pants valued at about $40.

About 10 o'clock this morning Sergt. Walsh with Patrolmen O'Brien and Maloney learned that two suspicious looking men had sold some jeans pants to a second-hand dealer named D Holiner at 920 North Seventh street. Following this clue they located the men in a saloon at Ninth and Morgan streets. Both denied any knowledge of the burglary, but they were locked up pending an investigation. Mullen, however, confessed after being incarcerated a short while, and offered to take the officers to the place where the remainder of the stolen goods were concealed. After leading them about aimlessly for a while he pretended that he could not find the place, being a stranger in the city. The officers then took him through a number of lodging houses in the vicinity. In the lodging-house at 816 North Eighth street he was identified as one of two men who had brought a lot of clothing there last night. Ten pairs of pants were found under his bed.

Last Day for Filing.

To-morrow will be the last day for filing suits for the December term of the Circuit Court, and the Circuit Clerk's office was in consequence a very busy place all day. It seems to be a general practice among lawyers to hold out what suits they have on hand until the very last possible minute. The result is a tremendous rush on the last two days. The number of suits filed for the December term promises to beat the record of the October term by quite a considerable number of suits.

Missouri Corporations.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—The Secretary of State this morning issued certificates of incorporation to the following companies:

Silver Refining Co., St. Louis; capital, $100,000.

Marx & Haas Jeans Cloth Co., St. Louis; capital, $250,000.

A BLACK bass weighing 9 pounds was caught in Upper Creve Coeur Lake on the line of the Missouri Pacific Railway this morning. Several others were caught weighing over 4 pounds.

A Flour and Feed Company Assigns.

The Continental Flour and Feed Co. made an assignment to-day to Wm. H. Boyden for the benefit of creditors. The assets are put at $5,000.

Sporting Notes.

President Rufus J. Delano of the Pastime Athletic Club announces that only members of the club will be eligible to enter the wrestling and sparring tournament to be given at the club house in the near future. The affair is expected to be a big success.

Chief Consul Robert Holm of the Missouri Division L. A. W., was re-elected for the fifth time. He received 304 votes and his opponent, Albert C. Davis, 161. Last year Mr. Holm defeated Mr. Davis by over 225 votes. M. J. Gilbert and W. F. Laing of St. Louis and R. P. Morisrity of Kansas City and Joseph Kelly of Sedalia were elected Representatives.

STOLE DIAMONDS.

Three Men Make Away With $6,000 Worth in Broad Day.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 17.—Three men entered the jewelry store of August Loch on Federal street, Alleghany, about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and, while two engaged the attention of the clerk, the third grabbed a tray from the window, on which twenty-four diamonds, valued at $6,000, were lying, and ran from the store. The alarm was given at once and the thief was chased to Montgomery avenue and captured. While running he tried to throw the tray into a sewer, but failed. All the diamonds but two were recovered. The thief is Harry Schaefer of Chicago. His confederates escaped during the excitement.

TOOK POSSESSION.

C. G. Culver, Dry Goods, of Sioux City in the Hands of Creditors.

SIOUX CITY, Io., Nov. 17.—The National Band of Sioux City this morning took possession of the store of C. G. Culver & Co., a leading dry goods firm here, under a chattel mortgage for $35,000 and a bill of sale. No assignment has been made, but the place of business is closed. The liabilities of the firm other than to the bank and the landlord's lien to the Boston Investment Co. for unexpired term of lease are small. The failure was precipitated by the consolidation of two banks, involving the closing up of the business of the National Bank of Sioux City.

M'GILL & REYNOLDS ASSIGN.

LAPORTE, Ind., Nov. 17.—McGill & Reynolds, dealers in gents' furnishing goods, made an assignment to-day. The liabilities are placed at $2,500, assets about $4,500.

Cummings Held for Manslaughter.

Judge Claiborne gave his decision to-day in the case of Patrick L. Cummings, charged with murder in the second degree, who was given a preliminary hearing several days ago. The Court held Cummings for the Grand Jury in $800 bond on a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree. Cummings is charged with killing Thomas Hartnett. On Sept. 10, 1893, there was a fight in Charles Bolin's saloon at Fifteenth and Biddie streets, in which Cummings and Hartnett took part. The barkeeper put the fighters out and the difficulty was continued outside. Shortly after Hartnett was found near the place dangerously cut, and Cummings was arrested on suspicion.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has just opened the Reichstag, and he hopes it will be his oyster.

THE income tax is the fair, honest tax, that does not rob the rich man nor oppress the poor.

HAWAII is wanted because its annexation would enormously increase the expenses of the United States and prop the high tariff.

AS CRANKS have begun to fire into Delmonico's to scare the rich people who eat there, it looks as if Dives will have to take to the beaneries.

IT is a bit absurd that a high tariff party should demand annexations when every annexation drives us to free trade with the territory we acquire.

THE CZAR now has only one-seventh of the globe, but by judicious alliances with the larger republics he hopes to gradually come into the remaining six.

CONGRESSMAN LOUD is making himself heard in behalf of annexation. Loud is on the Pacific coast, however, and his reverberation may not reach all his countrymen.

IT seems that the dismissed cashier of the Bank of England allowed his son to "work" him. The fond father is a charming figure in domestic life, but in a bank he is a terror.

THERE has been a diminution of American imports in France since the passage of the McKinley bill. As Mr. Blaine discovered, it opens no markets for the American exporter.

IT appears that the object of the President's visit to New York was to consult with some party friends and to look after his private business. Did anybody suppose it was anything else?

THE second part of the story of Guiteau will be found in next Sunday's POST-DISPATCH. The interest deepens as the story proceeds and discloses the strange workings of the assassin's disordered mind.

THE tariff appears to be a very local question indeed. Gen. Hancock wasn't much of a politician, but he stumbled upon a fact which is going to figure in a large way in American politics during the next few months.

THE criminals known as Anarchists seem to be as active as the "cranks" all over the world. The only difference between these two kinds of social pests seems to be that the former have more method in their madness than the others.

THE jobbers and adventurers of the Provisional Government want Uncle Samuel to pay the debt they have contracted. Paying this debt, however, would not be so bad as paying the Queen a pension to stay off her throne for the benefit of these persons.

AS PRESIDENT DIAZ is having trouble again with his Mexican rebels, we may sell him some American arms, too. Fully equipped with the best American implements of war, the Federal soldiers of Mexico might give the republic a stability it has not hitherto known.

ALABAMA men are asking for protection against the Eastern States. It seems that in the progress of high tariff ideas we have come to ask to be protected from each other. Why not change the constitution and put an end to the present "ruinous" free trade between the States?

JOHN BULL has been frightened, heretofore, by scare articles on the easy conquest that might be made of England by a powerful invader, and he has now something equally alarming in the showing that France is supreme in the Mediterranean and that Russia is following the naval policy of France. When the Cock and the Bear divide the British Empire between them they will share the remains of Britannia's navy 'alf and 'alf.

CONGRESSMAN FELLOWS, in his interview Wednesday, said that Tammany came out of the elections unscathed, having polled the second largest majority known in New York city. This, however, seems to be equivalent to an admission that the organization, however strong it may be in the city, has lost its influence over the party in the State. It has controlled State politics and aspired to dictate national policies. Is it getting ready for a lowly career as a mere local machine?

CONGRESSMAN BRYAN is very level-headed on the main question. "A tax on incomes," he says, "could be raised or lowered from year to year, according as the needs of the Government required, and would, to some extent, compensate for the inequalities of indirect taxation." This is the principle adopted by Sir Robert Peel in England which has given complete satisfaction to all classes ever since. It is a just and practical solution of the revenue problem and is susceptible of indefinite extension. We shall have to come to it sooner or later.

THE astounding intelligence comes from Chicago that Temporary Mayor Swift has ordered the discharge of sixteen building inspectors, who were appointed without having certificates from the examining board; and this astounding intelligence is supplemented by the announcement that he will discharge any official who collects or pays a political assessment. It is true that Mr. Swift has a boom that he hopes will give him a full term for Mayor, and he may only be seeking to popularize himself, but even under these circumstances his action is somewhat refreshing. Should Mr. Swift's opponent happen to be as much of a reformer as Mr. Swift may possibly be, Chicago will be in great luck.

COMPARE WITH COMPETITORS.

Next Sunday's POST-DISPATCH will not be an exceptionally good paper, according to its own standard, but it will be, as the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH is fifty-two times a year, the best Sunday paper in the West and superior in every feature to its competitors in St. Louis. Make the comparison for yourself.

The Sunday edition of the New York WORLD represents a greater outlay of money than any two Sunday papers published in the United States. Its correspondents are stationed in every news center of the globe, instructed to get the news regardless of expense. That these instructions are followed was shown in a recent rate discussion, when the Anglo-American Telegraph Co. exhibited an account of Oct. 26, last, showing that the WORLD on that day paid $2,797.20 for one message of 3,330 words from Montevideo. The Western Union Telegraph Co. presented the WORLD'S account of the previous day, Oct. 25, showing that that paper paid the company $1,124.88 for one message of 1,845 words from Buenos Ayres.

Connected as it is by direct private wires the POST-DISPATCH has the full benefit of this gigantic enterprise.

The POST-DISPATCH has its representatives stationed in the WORLD office, commanding for the readers of the POST-DISPATCH every news facility and resource of the journal acknowledged to be the greatest newspaper published. Supplemented as these opportunities are with the largest local staff maintained by any paper in St. Louis, and a force of market and financial reporters larger than the combined forces of all other papers published in this city we are enabled to publish the best Sunday paper in the West.

Compare the three papers of this city next Sunday and decide for yourself.

AN INCONSISTENT PLEA.

In casting about for arguments to justify the action of Minister Stevens and the subsequent practical approval of the Harrison Administration Republican organs display a singular forgetfulness of their past utterances. The New York Press for instance makes this remarkable plea:

> The white people of Hawaii have all the intelligence there is in the islands. They own most of the property. Without them and their influence in supremacy anarchy would befall Hawaii within a brief period, and their seizure of the Government was necessary for their own protection and that of all respectable interests in the country.

The Press forgets that this plea operates to stop all further declamation against the whites of the Southern States, who represent the wealth, intelligence and respectability of that section, for their alleged exclusion of the negroes from political affairs.

The same paper further says that the Kanakas are incapable of self-government and that therefore those who are should be upheld. The astonishing "Republic" they have set up is, according to this view, only an oligarchy, for if all the people do not participate it can hardly be called a republic, except formally and by courtesy, as it were.

Again it is said that the whites have all the property of the island. True, but how did they get it? And is it really theirs, justly? The laws under which they acquired it were not of Kanaka making. At least they did not turn over the island to the foreigners with a full knowledge that the act involved an absolute surrender of their natural heritage.

We cannot ignore the personal rights of the weak while caring for the property rights of the strong. However degraded the Kanakas may be they cannot lose their claim upon the conscience of civilization.

And it should be remembered that we cannot safely incorporate a population unfit for self-government. The better way is to respect their rights and give them friendly encouragement; not turn them over to an irresponsible group of men whose private interests override all considerations of right and justice.

BETTER DOCTORS.

The basis of all medical science, and the stimulant of all medical progress, is the patient. He is the beginning and the ending of all medical practice, and though medical practice is often the ending of him, the great truths here asserted are not affected by this last fact.

In the making of doctors the patients of this country have not received the consideration that is their due. Every patient who honestly and promptly pays his doctor is entitled to the very best medical attention. He has the right to demand that his physician or his surgeon or his oculist or his aurist or his medical what-not shall be a practitioner of thorough training. No other kind of a doctor should think of putting up a sign or writing a prescription. Our doctors should be such that in an emergency we may send for the nearest one without fear and trembling as to what may be the result.

But how are we to have this sort of doctors from the short course of students in most medical colleges? Every year the host of M. D.'s is augmented by hundreds of young graduates who can not possibly have been fitted for treating all the numerous and often complicated ills of the flesh in the short time they have devoted to study. If nature herself were not a great physician the havoc some of these inexperienced young gentlemen might make in a community would be appalling. Dr. Gil Blas himself would shudder at the mortality.

The trustees of Columbia College in the city of New York have resolved to establish a four years' course in medicine, and the educational period should be increased in all medical schools. In addition to his other attainments the medical student must now obtain a knowledge of bacteria and micro-organisms. A new and extensive line of work has been opened in this direction. He must know about water supplies, drainage, milk infection, etc. An extended course of clinical instruction is also necessary to the building up of a competent practitioner. A five years' course in medical colleges would be a good deal better than four, but we can scarcely hope for such an innovation.

A VIRGINIA grange asks for the retention of the duty on potatoes. There should have been no duty on potatoes. If the potato industry was perishing it might have been given a bounty, to which it is just as much entitled as is sugar. Should Mr. McKinley become President we shall probably have a system of bounties by which every man who raises anything or manufactures anything will be paid handsomely by the Government. When we all get something all the time from Uncle Samuel our prosperity will be prodigious, and we shall fear no more "death-blows" from any direction.

SHOULD Levi P. Morton be made the next Governor of New York he may possibly open a Shoreham bar at Albany. Mr. Morton's Washington enterprise was so well patronized while he was Vice-President that there is reason to think an Albany venture might prove equally profitable while he is Governor.

THAT was a neat bit of thief-taking in Grand Rapids, where some thieves were photographed by electricity while they were emptying a till. Should storekeepers generally connect their tills with a camera, burglars will be compelled to resort to masks or burnt cork while making their collections.

IN failing to annex Hawaii we have lost all the wild apple forests of those lovely islands. Hawaiian wild apples, placed in the bottom of apple barrels and baskets containing United States fruit, might have enriched our fruit dealers.

"IN sleeping in a cold room establish a habit of breathing through the nose," says a cold-weather rule. This is very good. The man who can "establish a habit" while he is asleep may some night break himself of snoring.

O SAY, can you see by the dawn's early light,
Our American seamen sail off as Brazilians?
But now, not a word! Hush and hush! Times are tight,
And Senor Peixoto is paying us millions.

THE signs of returning prosperity are unmistakable. The National Base Ball League is free from debt. With the greatest of American industries on its feet what have we to apprehend?

FINES enough to pay a judge's salary for a year have just been collected from the spectators of a Rhode Island dog-fight. It must have been a fight between bench-legged purps.

THERE is a real "carnival of crime" in Chicago. To be really representative, the feminine figure of Chicago, with her prominent "I Will," should have a sandbag in each hand.

SHOULD the tropical atmosphere of Hawaii bring to Minister Willis a luxuriant growth of hair, the United States will get something out of the Hawaiian business after all.

THE Delmonico pie-biters will be under the necessity of providing themselves with toothpicks of the Arkansas variety if the cranks don't let them alone.

THE Governor of Massachusetts has the title of "Excellency," but happily nobody is required to specify in what his excellence consists.

THINGS are getting serious when the American citizen may have his pie shot off his plate by a crank when he has barely got his knife into it.

Our Duty in Hawaii.

From the New York WORLD.

The people of Hawaii have an undoubted right to determine their own form of government and to choose their rulers. The prevalent suspicion that this right was shamefully violated by Minister Stevens and Commodore Wiltse has been deepened into a conviction by Secretary Gresham's cogent letter to the President, based, as it is, on what appear to be well authenticated facts. It is plain that by the acts of these agents the United States were placed in the position of overthrowing a friendly government by armed force and establishing a usurping Government in its stead.

That was a great wrong. Secretary Gresham's obvious indignation at it is entirely justifiable, and President Cleveland will do well to repudiate it with emphasis. In so far as the United States have maintained the semblance of a protectorate over the Provisional Government it should be promptly and publicly withdrawn, and the people of Hawaii should be made to understand that they are free to set up and maintain any form of government they like, without interference from the United States or any other foreign power, provided only the government so set up possesses the strength to perform its obligations to other powers.

If this is President Cleveland's Hawaiian policy, he will be sustained by an overwhelming majority of the American people. It is by no means sure that he will be sustained if he attempts to re-establish by force, or the menace thereof, the monarchy that was overthrown by force. In spite of Mr. Gresham's logic, which is ethically unassailable, this will have too much the appearance of redressing one wrong by committing another.

Our true policy in Hawaii is to keep hands off. We are under no obligations to place Liliuokalani on her throne again. It is enough if we leave her people free to place her there if they like. It would be absurd for this Republic to re-establish a throne once overthrown and its overthrow seemingly acquiesced in by the people.

On Its Merits.

From the Boston Herald.

It would be a hopeful symptom if the Hawaiian question could be discussed upon the plane of statesmanship and small politics could be kept out of it. There are no elections to be held for a long time. There is nothing, therefore, to be gained by attacking the Administration upon the subject. Long before it can be made an issue at the polls (if it ever is, which is not probable), the subject will be investigated and understood, and we hope an unbiased opinion formed with regard to it. The report comes that the Democrats are not united in opinion on the matter. It will be an excellent thing if the Republicans are not united either. This would imply a settlement of the question on its merits, without regard to partisan politics, which is eminently desirable.

MEN OF MARK.

FRANKLIN HAVEN, who recently died at his summer home in Beverly Farms, Mass., at the age of 90 years, was an intimate friend of Daniel Webster. He was long prominent in financial and railroad affairs in Massachusetts.

THERE are regular meetings in London between one of the smallest and one of the largest religious bodies of that city, at the services of an Independent Reformed Church numbering less than 100 members, conducted by a pastor who weighs nearly 300 pounds.

JAMES PATTON of New Windsor, Conn., who was one of Gen. Lafayette's body guard, died a few days ago at the age of 90 years.

GOUNOD left an unsung opera, which he called "Maitre Pierre." The libretto is based upon the legend of Heloise and Abelard.

LORD BRASSEY has a crank, attached to a costly barrel organ, without which he never goes on a cruise, and on which he plays every evening.

MRS. E. B. GRANNIS of New York City secured the right of suffrage by proxy on Tuesday. She is a Republican, but her brother, who is a Democrat, cast a ballot she fixed up for that purpose.

MRS. GEORGE J. GOULD took part in the opening of the doll booth yesterday at the Candy Show in New York. She was assisted by a bevy of pretty girls.

Not the Lord's Day.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

To defend myself from the imputation of ignorance, I would like to consider the texts brought forth by Mr. Green to prove it. I heartily agree with Mr. Green that the apostles did not observe the first day of the week as the Sabbath nor Lord's day, which are one. In Acts 20, 7, we find that the apostles had come together in their common abode; Acts 1, 13, John, 20, 19, that Paul met with them and continued his preaching till midnight; now as the apostles observed God's division of time, the evening and the morning are the first day, etc., Gen. 1, 5; Lev. 23, 32, this meeting then must have been the evening of the sabbath or Saturday night, which was the beginning of the first day and as Paul departed at daybreak and walked a distance of some twenty miles to meet his ship which had been sailing all night, and would continue that day. We see that he had none of the idea of the man of sin. That man can make a day holy, or conceding that he could, would we not be compelled of this example to begin the observance of Sunday or Saturday evening [I. Cor. 16, 2]? We find that Paul was making collections for the poor saints and request that every one should lay by him in store as God had prospered him. Now, would not this necessitate a balancing of his accounts to ascertain what his profits had been, a work wholly unfit for a day devoted to the Lord, and it was to be laid by him not given in at the church as it would certainly be all ready for Paul, if that were the case. I would like to consider the texts given to Dr. Carrington as the doctor may think it beneath his dignity to answer them, Rom. iii, 19, 20. Now read nineteenth verse: "Now we know that what things soever the Lord sayeth it sayeth to them that are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped and all the world may become guilty before God." Read twenty-third verse: "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Twentieth verse: "Therefore, by the deed of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight for by the law is the knowledge of sin "From this we find all the world is under the law, and all have broken it. God has said "The soul that sinneth it shall die." What hope have we? I. John 2, 1, 2, and "If any man sin we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous; and he is the propitiation for sins and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world." John 3, 16. For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Rom. 3, 24. "Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus."

Theater Hats.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Would you kindly allow an old theater-goer space to also complain of the "hat nuisance."

Why is it that the ladies will persist in wearing hats to theaters, concerts, etc.? If they only knew how very much prettier they looked without some of those unbecoming hats they certainly would not insist in wearing them much to the discomfiture of the people behind them.

The theater managers ought to offer some inducement to their lady patrons who remove their hats during the performance, such as tickets for the following week; in fact, they could help considerably toward establishing this rule if they would display a little interest in the matter. The dressing-rooms connected with some of the theaters are such small, disagreeable places that it is no wonder the ladies hesitate about using them. Then again, why could not the ladies hold their hats on their laps during the play, or wear something in the shape of a scarf to the theater?

Who is it that says "A woman's glory is in her crown of hair?" If only our St. Louis ladies realized that how much pleasanter it would be for the "poor men" who are destined to sit behind them. The styles of hair-dressing are so varied just now I should think the women ought to delight in knowing that their heads were well dressed when going to a place of amusement. CLERK.

Bigoted Pankers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

There are two sides to all questions, and certainly a great deal can be said in favor of silver as a money metal. It is quite certain also that collecting profits on fictitious values, such as watered stock, has had something to do with the present financial depression; perhaps fully as much as the money question. At all events, a large amount of water has been squeezed out of the stock in the depression, and we see no great change in the condition of the laborers of the United States since the money question has been settled.

If the Illinois bankers who assembled at Decatur recently had had even a moderate amount of that intelligence which they complain ed of having been insulted, they would have heard Banker John C. Russell even though his views do not correspond with theirs. Backwoodsmen and city hoodlums are censured for hooting down a political speaker, although his views are quite opposite to theirs and he is speaking directly against their interests. The Illinois bankers out-hoodlumed the hoodlums when they drove Mr. Russell from the stage because his views did not coincide with theirs. A principle which the bankers are so sensitive about that they must in its behalf suppress free speech will bear careful watching. They are not noted for working for their health nor the interest of the dear laborer. J. W. B.

Luther a Poor Translator.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

To one familiar with the Greek language as well as with Luther's German, the communication in to-day's Forum seems somewhat confusing. I offer to challenge those translations as erroneous. The Greek passages that Luther rendered, "One of the Sabbaths," according to Greek idioms, should be translated, One day from the Sabbaths; or the following day. Note for example the following from Luther: "And when the Sabbath was past, Maria Magdalena and Maria Jacobi and Salomi bought spices that they might come and anoint him. And they came to the sepulchre on a Sabbath very early when the sun rose." Mark, 16, 1, 2. Here they are said to have bought spices after the Sabbath was over, and to have come to anoint him on a Sabbath morning. This second verse should be translated: And very early, one (day) from the Sabbaths, etc. Now, as the Greek word for one here is in the feminine gender, it must qualify day understood. All the other passages given in the communication above mentioned can be explained on this principle with equal facility. JAS. MCKENZIE,

Taking Public Property for Private Use.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The sidewalk on the north side of Poplar street, just west of Seventh, has for about three months past served as a storage place for a portion of the stock of a wholesale grocery doing business at that corner. Pedestrians are compelled at times to walk in the street at great risk of injury by passing teams and trains.

To-day may be seen on this sidewalk about 150 barrels of leaking molasses, pickles, salt, etc. If the owners of this property have arranged with the authorities to use this space for storage purposes, and revenue therefor is flowing into the City Treasury, the suggestion is offered that such revenue be applied to placing a sidewalk on the other side of the street, so that pedestrians may have a path not smeared with molasses over which they may reach the depot and their places of business. A SUFFERER.

Help the Choral.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have just read with interest the letter in to-night's paper in regard to the Choral Society. I was glad to see this letter. I was glad to see anything which would point out to the people a danger. Music is the art of all arts which appeals directly to the people and no occasion other than a purely commercial one is complete without it. We cannot get married or buried without music. We cannot celebrate anything nor boom our favorite son without it.

A standard to give as an ideal is necessary in any pursuit. The Choral Society has served this purpose for years. It will be a crying shame if we allow it to suffer just because times are a little hard.

Help the Choral out. GOOD CITIZEN.

A RADICAL REVOLT.

House of Commons Stirred Up Over Woman Suffrage.

FIFTY LEADERS ACRIMONIOUSLY DENOUNCE THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

The Trouble Then Precipitated Really the Result of the Government's Actions in Other Directions—Radicals Insist on Cloture of the Parish Councils Bill—Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The radical revolt in the House of Commons yesterday evening during the debate on the parish councils bill, when the Government was defeated in opposing a motion of Walter McLaren, a Radical and pronounced woman suffragist, who moved that the committee insert in the bill a clause enfranchising women who would be entitled, if they were men, to vote on local government matters and parliamentary election was, to some extent, the outcome of irritation caused by the Government's policy in other directions. The Radicals are, in the first place, annoyed at the Government for making no sign of a desire to curtail discussion of the Parish Councils bill, and they insist that the bill should be closured and forced through the House of Commons before Christmas.

In the second place the Radicals are annoyed at the reply of Lord Herschell, Lord High Chancellor, to a deputation on Wednesday last, asking him to give effect to the resolution of the House of Commons last May in favor of replacing Tory magistrates by Liberals.

As a further mark of Radical displeasure, fifty leading Radicals met yesterday evening and acrimoniously denounced the Government, and finally passed a resolution to the effect that insufficient explanation of the delay in replying to Tory magistrates had been given, and that the bench ought to represent all classes. This resolution was sent to Mr. Gladstone.

EARL OF ELGIN BANQUETTED.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Northbrook Club gave a banquet at the Imperial Institute last evening to the Earl of Elgin, the newly appointed Viceroy of India. Many leading statesmen and aristocrats were present. Lord Roseberry, the Foreign Minister, who responded to a toast to the guest of the evening, said he thought that the frontier questions, which concerned India, Russia and Frace, were not proceeding as favorably as the English Government would desire.

The Earl of Elgin, in replying, expressed the intention of bringing an absolutely unfettered judgment to the discharge of his new vice regal duties in India.

THE AMEER AND SIR DURAND.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 17.—A dispatch from Cabul, dated Nov. 13, describes the public durbar, which was held at the palace in honor of the British mission, headed by Sir Mortimer Durand, which was on the point of leaving the capital of Afghanistan, after having successfully terminated the negotiations with the Ameer.

The Ameer made a speech, during which he said that he had summoned his people to mark an occasion of great thankfulness. He said that he and Sir Mortimer Durand had concluded a settlement in every way satisfactory, and he congratulated the Afghans upon having secured a good friend in Great Britain, who had no designs upon the country and whose interests were identical with theirs. The Ameer then exhorted the Afghans to remain friends of the British and to hand down this sentiment to their children. Later the Ameer read an address, bearing the seals of the head men of Afghanistan, accepting the settlement arrived at with the British commissioners.

SO-CALLED CUBAN REVOLT.

Gen. Marti Confirms the Facts Already Published in the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Gen. Jos. Marti, representative of the Independent party of Cuba in the United States, received a dispatch yesterday to the effect that the Cuban rebellion is at an end and the insurgents have surrendered. He said he was in possession of full information in regard to the rebellion, but he could not make it public. He made the following statement, however:

"The Republican-Populist Revolutionary party, which is made up of Cubans in the United States and elsewhere, while not disclaiming their responsibility in preparing the island for a rebellion for Republican purposes and of lending help to a spontaneous revolutionary movement, has not been a party to the present uprising. It seems, in fact, as previously stated to the POST-DISPATCH correspondent, that its name and authority have been shamefully abused, and the enthusiasm of honest Cubans treacherously availed of in order to serve the purpose of the Spanish political party, who are alone responsible for the trouble. By letters and cablegrams just arrived it is proved that a handful of honest Cubans were prompted to rebel against the express advice of the Republican party by the pressing instigation of the Spaniards known in that province to be the most ardent defenders of the active military system. The result of the rebellion was local dismay and it will doubtless teach the Spaniards the necessity of keeping the islands under strict military rule. My cablegrams inform me that of those who have taken up arms at the town of Las Tunas thirteen men have surrendered, ten have been captured and two killed."

FASTIDIOUS BURGLARS.

They Make a Big Haul From a Furnishing Goods Store.

Burglars entered the gents' furnishing store of F. W. Krampe, 1010 Olive street, last Sunday night, and made way with about $150 worth of stock. Handkerchiefs, underwear, shirts, collars and cuffs, neckwear and jewelry were all represented in the articles stolen. They were fastidious burglars, making their selection from the stock with the eye of a connoisseur. Only plaited bosom shirts and neckwear, etc., of the latest styles went with them, and their very nicety of taste may be the means of their detection, as Mr. Krampe said that goods of a pattern different from that of any other store in town were taken.

The burglars were evidently of a persevering character and the work they had to do to get at the stock would have discouraged most men in the business. The entrance was effected through the cellar the ware-room above and thence through a partition into the store. They entered the cellar from the alley through a coal trap, the door of which was battered down with a ram of railroad iron weighing about fifty pounds. On top of the cellar trap-doors leading up into the warerooom three large boxes filled with goods and weighing 200 pounds each had been placed by the proprietor for the express purpose of keeping out such visitors as he had Sunday night, but he did not know those burglars. They pulled the boxes off of the doors with hooks inserted between the iron gratings of the window. After that all was smooth sailing and they helped themselves to whatever suited their fancy.

Mr. Krampe has put the case in the hands of the police, but no report of the robbery was ever made to the press. The stolen property consists of eleven silk mufflers, three and one-half dozen silk handkerchiefs, six suits of underwear, nine ties, four plaited bosom white shirts, two flannel shirts, five dozen cuff buttons, seven silk watch guards with gold-plated ornaments and six pairs of kid gloves.

IN MARBLE HALLS.

Abraham Slimmer's Generosity Destitute.

WAVERLY, Io., Nov. 17.—To the people of Bremer County the journey "over the hills to the poor-house" will henceforth be robbed of its terrors, for through the beneficent generosity of Mr. Abraham Slimmer, those who are unfortunate as to become public charges will dwell in marble halls. Mr. Slimmer last evening dropped into the County Auditor's office while the Board of Supervisors was in session and pleasantly surprised that body by presenting them with a deed to his palatial mansion that overlooks the city from the West and which, with the beautiful park surroundings, is valued at $20,000. The only condition of the transfer is that the dwelling shall be used exclusively as a home for poor people, and the donor takes it upon himself to keep up the expenses of the establishment until his death. Mr. Slimmer is the same gentleman who founded and endowed the home for aged Jews on Drexel avenue, in Chicago.

OIL ON THE WATERS.

Opening of the Conference of the British Coal Owners and Miners.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—There was much excitement this morning in the vicinity of the Foreign Office, where the conference between the coal mine owners and the delegates of the different miners' associations began at 11 o'clock, under the Presidency of the Earl of Roseberry, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The miners' delegates were most cordially received by Lord Roseberry, who escorted them into his private rooms while awaiting the opening of the conference. The conference was formally opened soon after 11 o'clock by the Earl of Roseberry, who made an admirable speech, tending to pour oil on the troubled waters, to the assembled owners of coal mines and the representatives of their striking employes.

MISSOURI HORSE BREEDERS.

Important Meeting to Be Held in St. Louis Next Month.

A circular signed by prominent breeders of horses in this State has been issued, calling a meeting of gentlemen intended to take place at Music Hall, Exposition Building, in this city, on the 12th and 13th of December. The first purposes of the convention, as set out in the call, is to form an organization to be known as the Missouri Horse Breeders' Association. In explaining the benefits to be derived from such an organization, the signers of the call say that such an association will give dignity and standing to the industry in foreign parts, assure a market place for its produce, promote harmony and unity among the owners of the several breeds of horses.

Realizing the depressed condition of the horse market, and deprecating the estimation in which the owner and breeder of horses are in general held by the public, they seek a means for relief in an association for mutual protection. Among the objects to be attained by the proposed association are, to provide a place to which breeders may bring their stock to be prepared for exhibition or sale, where the breeder will be honorably received and comfortably entertained; a place where sales may be held both publicly and privately; to eliminate the gambling features from horse engagement in speed contests as much as possible by affording an opportunity to the public of choosing its own favorite; to exclude disturbing elements and exercise a moral influence in the administration of its affairs; that none other than true Missourians shall be in official positions.

With no market abroad and none at home, something must be done to revive interest, facilitate exchange and maintain confidence in the horse. This can only be by the united action of the breeders, and a call has been issued by a number of them, to which every breeder of the State, no matter how small his interest, is cordially invited to attend, to lend the wisdom of his counsel in shaping the policy and destiny of the contemplated association, and to a participation in its privileges, benefits and emoluments.

MR. VON DER AHE DISGUSTED.

He Wanted to Be a National League Director—George Van Haltren Sold.

President Von der Ahe is said to be very sore over his failure to be elected a member of the Board of Directors of the National League. A dispatch from New York quotes him as follows on the subject:

"They just put their hands in the hat, and it was a million to one that Chris' name would not be drawn out, and it wasn't. The old League men are getting the plums, and I don't see where the Association end of the League comes in." Yesterday's conference of the League magnates the Philadelphia tangle was taken up and it was decided that the matter should rest exactly where it is now. Next year, however, the Philadelphia club must settle with visiting clubs in this way: For every 25-cent ticket 12½ cents must go to the visiting club, and for every 50-cent ticket 25 cents must be paid to the visiting manager. This settlement must be made in all other League cities. The magnates elected a Committee on Playing Rules, consisting of John T. Brush, Von der Ahe and A. J. Reach. They also voted to hold the reconvened annual meeting in this city on Feb. 26, 1894.

THE GONCOURTS AND DAUDET.

A Lecture by Prof. Henri Dumay on Modern French Literature.

The first of a series of lectures on contemporaneous French literature was delivered in the hall of the Washington University by Prof. Henri Dumay yesterday afternoon. Although the lecture was in French, the hall was crowded and the views of the lecturer were received with marked appreciation. "Impressionism" was the subject of the first lecture; the influence of the Goncourt brothers and Alphonse Daudet on modern French literature. These authors deal principally with externals in their studies of social conditions, but the Goncourt's were not easily understood by the general reader, even though acquainted with France and her customs. Daudet, however, in following the same plan, had brought the subject within the comprehension of the people. Prof. Dumay expressed some very original ideas and upset, though with marked consideration for contrary opinions, many notions concerning Daudet's work. He dealt at length with "Sappho" which is set down as Daudet's most "immoral" work, and showed by his exposition of the author's purpose that it is entirely a moral story, wholesome in its effect.

"Zola" will be the subject of Prof. Dumay's lecture next Thursday afternoon.

DEAT... OF S. A. COALE.

...he Well Known Art Collector Succumbs to Surgical Operation.

Mr. Samuel Augustus Coale, the well-known art critic, died at his residence in Vandeventer place shortly before 12 o'clock last night. For some time past Mr. Coale had been afflicted with a tumor between the right eye and the nose. He submitted to an operation about four months ago, but a second growth necessitated an operation last Monday, during which the surgeons were compelled to remove the right eye. His impaired constitution was unable to withstand the shock and his death resulted last night.

Mr. Coale was widely known as a connoisseur of fine art. He was a purser in the navy for some six years, during which time he became intimately acquainted with the art and artists of the Old World. Of a naturally refined and artistic temperament, he pursued assiduously the study of art and renaissance and at the time of his death his keen discrimination in art was highly appreciated both in this country and abroad. His handsome residence is adorned with many and valuable triumphs of the brush and chisel, culled by him from the salons and studios of Europe and America. He was, for three years, in charge of the art gallery of the St. Louis Exposition, to which he brought many of the finest paintings and sculptures that have ever been shown in this city.

Mr. Coale was 58 years old at the time of his death. He leaves a mother and seven children, three daughters and four sons to mourn his loss. The funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

SANDBAGGED AND ROBBED.

John Ryan, While Drunk, Falls Into Bad Hands—Carondelet News.

Officers Warden and Collins found John Ryan, a laborer, lying insensible at Broadway and Catlin street at a late hour last night. At first it was thought that Ryan was only very drunk, but later when he was able to speak he said he had been sand-bagged and robbed of about $30 and his watch. The last he remembers was being drunk and taking a drink with two strangers he met in a Broadway saloon. At that time he had all his money. When he recovered consciousness some hours later in the First District Police Station he was without money. This morning he did not have enough to pay the $5 fine imposed by Judge Meegan for getting drunk and not being able to take better care of himself. Ryan says he was going to DeSoto, Mo., where his home is.

Racine Beer Seized.

Thirty-four half-barrels of beer minus the requisite government stamps were seized by the Internal Revenue Department yesterday in the warehouse of the St. Louis Automatic Refrigerating Co. The beer was consigned by Klnkut's Brewery of Racine, Wis., to H. Kruse, their local agent, who is pushing it on the market during the beer drivers' strike, some local beer being under a boycott. There were at least four carloads of the beer in the warehouse, but only 34 barrels were unstamped. The local agent claims the stamps must have been lost in transit.

QUEER CATS IN A CHURCH SPIRE.

Of an Unknown Species and Must Have Been There for Years.

The trio of felines which B. E. Woodbrey, a carpenter of Brighton, found in the spire of the First Parish Church of Brighton yesterday afternoon, are a species entirely unknown, says the Boston Transcript.

About a year ago the property of the First Parsh was sold. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Woodbrey began to tear down the old spire of the church. He first tore off a heavy wire screen that inclosed the belfry. This screening has been in place for a number of years. When it was removed three most peculiar cats were seen to jump from rafter to rafter and ascend to the peak of the spire.

They are exceedingly wild and their appearance is extremely peculiar. They are covered with a cost of long, shaggy fur; their teeth are long and are almost like tusks.

On the nose of each is a large tuft of hair resembling a tusk. They are very agile and spring from rafter to rafter with the ease of a squirrel. It is not known how they got into the spire or how long they have been there, but they must have been confined in their aerial abode for many years.

About a year ago a strange singing noise was heard coming from the spire at frequent intervals, and it was thought that it was caused by the swinging of the vane. It is now believed that it was caused by these animals.

How they have managed to live is unaccountable, unless they catch the sparrows and swallows that abound in the spire. It is not known how their supply of water was obtained. Mr. Woodbrey will endeavor to capture them.

Nellie E. Chaphe's Allegations Against Her Husband in Her Suit.

NINETEEN DEFAULT CASES IN JUDGE VALLIANT'S DIVORCE DOCKET.

Paul H. Roper, Adam Klug, Herman Lohweg, Anson W. Foot and Julius Hoppe Claim to Have Wives Who Prefer Other Men's Society—Women Charge Husbands With a Variety of Misdeeds.

To-day was divorce default day in Judge Valliant's Court and nineteen unhappy married people were down on the docket for separations for one cause or another. There seemed to be a large majority of women in the court-room, while the male applicants for the severance of the bonds of matrimony were considerably in the minority. There was but little else done but granting divorces in room No. 5 during the morning.

Nellie E. Chaphe wanted a divorce from Andrew J. Shaphe, Jr. They were married in 1890 and lived together until May, 1892. Andrew, she alleged, was constitutionally opposed to work and excessively fond of liquor. He sold all her wedding presents and used the money himself, she alleges, and compelled her to look to her parents for support for herself and her infant child.

Paul H. Roper no longer desires to be the husband of Cora F. Roper, because she has turned out badly, he alleged. He married her in December, 1890, and lived with her until December 1892, but she did not appreciate a good husband and a good home and became unduly intimate, he claimed, with other men, finally ending up in houses of ill repute on Chestnut street. Mr. Roper was given his divorce.

Herman Lohweg wanted a divorce from Dene Lohweg, whom he married in February, 1890, and with whom he lived until 1892, when his wife deserted him and has stayed away from him ever since, he asserts. They had one child, which has since died, and at its death Mrs. Lohweg informed him, he avers, that he was laboring under a mistaken impression when he presumed that the child was his, because it was not, but was the offspring of another man.

Annie Klug had a fondness for going to picnics and running about with other men, it is charged, and as a result her husband, Adam, wants a divorce from her. He says that he was married in December, 1891, and lived with her until June, 1893. He used to supply his wife with money which she spent on herself, he avers, without using it for any of the household purposes for which it was intended. On one occasion against his protests Annie went to a picnic with other men, he claims, and came home late at night in a very intoxicated condition, he avers. When he remonstrated with her she smashed the china and furniture in the house, he states.

Anson W. Foot married his wife, Elizabeth Foot, in April, 1893, and lived with her for a few months, when she deserted him. Ever since their marriage she was in the habit of calling him very vile names, he alleges, and asserts that he saw her kissing another man in his bedroom. On another occasion, he claims, he found her sitting on another man's lap. She had a great fondness for consorting with immoral men and women, he avers, and on one occasion he found her in bed with an immoral woman and a man in the same room.

Julius Hoppe married Henny Hoppe in 1884 and lived with her off and on until July, 1893, when he finally separated. She told him that she never did like him, he says, and that he was the bane of her life. She went away once for three weeks and stayed at a boarding-house, he alleges, where there were a lot of very lively young men. On one occasion she left him and went to Germany where a child was born he avers and because of that and the request of her parents he took her back again. Of late she refused to live with him, he claims.

Olga Wuertenbaecher, who married Harry Wuertenbaecher in July, 1892, and lived with him until April, 1893, says her husband began to show a marked coldness to her shortly after her marriage and after that stayed away from home until early hours in the morning and sometimes stayed out all night. She charges him with having been unduly intimate with other women. She was given a decree of divorce and the custody of her 7-weeks-old child, born since the institution of the suit, and alimony in the sum of $500 in gross.

Elizabeth White was given a divorce from W. J. White by Judge Valliant and also the custody of her three children. She married in 1875 and lived with him until 1890, when she moved from Arizona to St. Louis upon his suggestion after he sold out his ranch. He promised to come to St. Louis after she arrived, but failed to do so, and has ever since failed to contribute in any way to her support or that of the children.

Mary Lawler was given a divorce from John Lawler and restored to her maiden name of Kirby. She was married in January 1890, and lived with her husband until October, 1890, when he deserted her and has failed since to support her or come near her.

Elizabeth McCarty was granted a divorce to-day from John D. McCarty, to whom she was married in 1890. Her husband deserted her and could not be found after his abandonment of her.

Katie Hollis was deserted by Austin Hollis and in consequence wanted a divorce from the man she married in 1879. She was given a decree with the custody of her two children.

Maud Jenkins says that her husband, Harry Jenkins, whom she married in 1886, treated her in a most improper and brutal manner, calling her at times some most vile and disgusting names and finally deserted her in July, 1891, and has ever since failed in any way to contribute to her support. Her case was continued.

Josephine Belt was married to Horace P. Belt in September, 1890, at Trenton, Tenn., and lived with him until October of the same year. Her husband deserted her and when he was last heard of he was in New Orleans, but has absconded from there, and has not been heard of since, she alleges.

Theresia Otto married Frank Otto in August, 1893, and lived with him until he literally drove her out of the house, she alleges, by beating her and choking her so that she was almost killed. She asked for the custody of her three children.

SCORES OF NEW SUITS.

Last Day But One of Filing in the Circuit Court.

To-day being the next to last day for filing suits in the Circuit Court far the December term in consequence the Circuit Clerk's office was a very busy place to-day. The lawyers are in the habit of waiting until the latest possible moment for filing suits and the consequence is that there is somewhat of a rush during the last few days. Among the more important suits filed to-day were:

Charles E. Illsley sues J. V. E. Swart and Mary E. Swart on a contract for services as an architect. He asks for a judgment for $1,840.

James E. Fogg entered suit against Henry Tielkemeyer to recover $375 as commissions for the sale of two lots of ground Nos. 2310 and 2312 Chestnut street.

Marguerite Rosenthal entered a damage suit as a poor person against the Jefferson Avenue Railway Co. for $2,000 damages for injuries received while she was a passenger on the road.

The J. D. Levy Clothing Co. sued E. S. Patterson & Co. on an account for $1,349.50.

Patrick W. Hassett entered suit to-day against Emil G. Wortscheschek and Paul Wortscheschek for $2,500 damages for alleged misappropriation of property.

Mary O'Connell entered suit against Charles H. Gleason & Co. on a $500 promissory note.

The Bank of Baton Rouge entered suit against Rathbone & Co. and Edgar A. Roberts for $3,035 the bank claims is due.

R. H. Craig, James Begg and J. S. Craig entered suit against Charles H. Seybt for damages for alleged overdrafts and breach of agreement.

Annie Muench entered suit for divorce from Emil Muench on the grounds of desertion. They were married in October, 1885, and he deserted her in 1890.

Joseph Gummersbach entered suit against Henry Maltby, S. W. Locke and Isaac H. French on three notes of $2,561 each.

James Stewart & Co. entered suit for $1,065.50 against Samuel H. Burrell for services as architect.

David Goldberg sues John Barker for $10,000 damages to real estate owned by him.

Ben C. Hogan entered suit against the St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co. to recover property on Morgan street, near Vandeventer avenue, and $1,000 damages, along with rents and costs.

Attachments Against Newman.

Among the many attachment suits filed in the Circuit Court to-day were two attachments against Frederick Newman of 3940 Page avenue, the man who gained considerable notoriety a few days ago by his treatment of his wife, which was resented much to the discomfiture of Mr. Newman by Mr. Maurice B. Starkmeyer, a neighbor. Jacob M. Frank filed one suit for $750 and James Coyle and Charles W. Sargeant sue for $326.90. The attachments will be against the goods in the Lindsay Tailoring Co. at Sixth street and Washington avenue, which shop Newman is said to own.

SOUTH SIDE PROPERTY.

Large Deals Reported To-Day—Agents Want Insurance Commissions Restored.

Two large deals, which really amounted to a trade, were made in Southwestern property to-day. They were closed by G. Schuchmann & Co. and follow: Several parcels of vacant property having an aggregate frontage of 364 feet on Park, St. Vincent and Eads avenues, west of Ohio avenue, and fifty feet on the south side of Manchester road, west of Ewing avenue, for $16,500, from Patrick Mohan to Kell & Daus, who will improve all the property with substantial brick dwellings.

Schuchmann & Co. also report the sale of six brick stores and flats at the southeast corner of Tower Grove and Swan avenue, with lot 110x132½ feet, for $17,500, from Kell & Daus to Patrick Mohan. The property rents for $1,800 per annum, and is considered a good investment.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange was held yesterday afternoon in answer to a call issued by President E. S. Rowse of the Exchange. The meeting was secret, and even the directors did not know what it was to be held for until President Rowse notified them at the meeting. The principal business taken up was with reference to the action of the insurance men in cutting off the 10 per cent formerly allowed agents for placing insurance.

A committee was appointed to see the insurance representatives in the city and learn if they will not restore the old commission to the agents, and, in case of failure to have them do so, a new insurance company may be organized which will be entirely a home company. The directors also considered the question of offering inducements to a large manufacturing concern, the only one of the kind in the United States to locate in St. Louis.

UNION DEPOT PARK.

The proposition to have the city purchase the two blocks of ground on the north side of Market street opposite the new Union Depot for the purpose of making a park of it is being extensively discussed by the members of the fraternity, and public opinion seems very much divided. This morning Mr. William S. Pope, the attorney, gave to a POST-DISPATCH reporter an opinion of the scheme. Mr. Pope said: "The city is now carrying all the debt it should carry, and to purchase the two blocks mentioned for park purposes would be to assume a useless debt which could not possibly benefit the city. The scheme, I think, is a real estate one to saddle a lot of ground on to the city which has been left on the hands of speculators, agents and owners by the financial stringency of a few months ago. Instead of wasting money on a park that could only serve as a retreat for idlers and drunkards the city should use the money to complete the new City Hall."

AGENTS' REPORTS.

S. H. Morton reports the sale of house 3112 Newstead avenue, a new four-room brick cottage, with 25x150 feet of ground, for $2400, from Charles T. Richards to Peter Hogan, for a home.

John W. Eddie has purchased 100 feet of ground, on the south side of Washington avenue, east of Lake avenue, for $100 a foot, from E. B. Morgan.

Stinde Bros. report the sale of house 1343 De Hodiamont avenue, a six-room brick dwelling with 25x130 feet of ground for $2,500 from A. Stinde to Cora Willison.

Naughton & Bergfeld report the sale of house No. 1140 Aubert avenue, a six-room brick cottage with 25x180 feet of ground, for $2,750, from the Imperial Investment Co. to Albert O. French.

As an evidence that money is easy in St. Louis the St. Louis Trust Co. this morning loaned to John M. Sellers on his 157 feet 11¼ inches at the southeast corner of Twenty-second and Olive streets, $40,000 for a term of three years, with interest at 6 per cent per annum.

Ada Boyd, colored, was arrested at the disreputable house 618 Clark avenue this morning on complaint of Frank Kelly, a laborer employed on the Government works near Cairo, who said that she stole $42 from him after enticing him into her room. When searched at the Four Courts the money was not found in Ada's possession. She was held, however, pending a further investigation. Kelly said that the $42 was every cent he had in the world.

THE HOWARD TRIAL.

Witnesses for Defendant Give Some Very Favorable Testimony.

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 17.—In the Howard trial to-day Mrs. S. R. Conger, defendant's witness, was first called. She testified that the defendant Howard, was in this city and delivered the annual sermon at the Central Baptist Church in August, 1891, the same time and date that E. Ross and Joseph Ledger were sending out letters from New York. The Government claims it has proved that these letters are in the handwriting of the defendant. Henry Levy, a dry goods merchant of this city, also testified that defendant settled an account in his store in February, 1891. At the same time different parties throughout the land were receiving letters from Ross and Ledger in New York. Levy produced his books, which bear him out in his statement. The testimony of these witnesses as was predicted by the POST-DISPATCH correspondent yesterday, created a marked sensation, and has encouraged the defendant.

The Government closed last evening, but reserved the right to call Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, who has been summoned, and will be here this afternoon. The Attorney-General says he will be able to prove that Mr. Lincoln, while Minister to England, knew defendant personally, and that he bore the name of William Lord Moore, and resided at No. 5 Ingersol road, Sheppard Bush, London.

Since the defense called their witnesses the crowds in the court-room are increasing all the time and the interest manifested is greater than at any time since the trial began. Public sentiment is divided and there is considerable feeling on both sides.

ON THE GRAND AVENUE HOTEL.

Another Deed of Trust Filed by Mrs. Gerardi.

Mrs. Annie Gerardi, wife of Joseph Gerardi, to-day filed the second deed of trust on old furniture and household effects of the Grand Avenue Hotel to Meyer Bauman, executor of the Clara Rosenblatt estate, to secure the lease of the building. The first deed was for $10,000, of which $8,000 has been paid.

NOT THEIR STUDENT—Dr. A. S. Barnes, Dean of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, says that no such person as Marion Ross is or has been a student at that institution. It will be remembered that a warrant was issued for the arrest of Ross a few days ago charging him with theft, and he was reported to be a student of the above medical college.

PABST MILWAUKEE BEER WINS

The Pabst Brewing Co. have been awarded the highest points of merit on each article they manufacture. Each separate Beer has defeated all similar beers of its respective class. Pabst Hofbrau scored higher than the Royal Hofbrau of Munich, and the Best Tonic was the only product of brewing which scored the 100 points of perfection. This gives to Pabst, Milwaukee,

A Victory Over the Entire World,

Consisting of an Award on Ten Separate Products.

A victory complete and absolutely unparalleled in the history of expositions. This announcement of the first and only report of the Judges was made officially for the first and only time on Wednesday, Nov. 15, 1893, at 5:30 p. m., by J. Boyd Thatcher, Chairman on Awards. Hence all previous statements from every source have been unauthorized and misleading.

The resumption will give employment to several thousand men, who have been idle for six months.

SETTLED AT LAST.

tt and Mitchell Will Battle on American Soil.

COPY OF THE ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT FOR THE BIG FIGHT.

Absolute Protection Guaranteed Both Principals—Another Report to the Effect That the Madison Track Will Be Reopened—Barney Schrieber Offered $15,000 for Yo Tambien.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—It seems definitely settled that James J. Corbett and Charles Mitchell will battle for the championship of the world, a $20,000 purse and a stake of $10,000 before the newly organized Duval Athletic Club of Jacksonville, Fla., on the night of Thursday, Jan. 25, 1894. A settlement of the much-talked about contest has been a long time coming, but it certainly looks as though there could be no hitch now, unless the Governor of Florida takes it into his head to emulate the example of the Governor of Indiana and call into service the militia and a few Gatling guns. From the municipal authorities no interference is apprehended. On behalf of Corbett, Billy Brady has signed these articles:

Articles of agreement between James J. Corbett and Charles Mitchell: "We, the undersigned, James J. Corbett of California, and Charles Mitchell of England, do hereby agree to engage in a glove contest before the Duval Athletic Club of Jacksonville, Fla., on the night of Jan. 25, 1894, at 9 o'clock p. m. sharp, for a purse of twenty thousand ($20,000) dollars, winner to receive all.

The contest to be with the smallest gloves allowed by law, said gloves to be furnished by James J. Corbett (the gloves to be of ordinary make, with finger holes and nothing in the way of center padding), the Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern the contest, said rules to be followed in every instance and particularly by the referee, Maxwell E. Moore.

The club is to select an official timekeeper, each of the principals reserving the right to appoint a time-keeper to represent himself, said time-keepers to be subject to the rules of the club.

Should either of the principals commit a deliberate foul, thereby injuring the other's chances of winning, the one so doing shall lose all interest in the aforesaid purse.

To guarantee the faithful performance of the above obligation, each principal hereby agrees to deposit the sum of $5,000 in the hands of David A. Blanchard to guarantee their appearance in the ring at the appointed time.

The Duval Club hereby guarantees both principals in this contest absolute protection before and after the contest in regard to all and any interference on the part of the [illegible] or State authorities and to pay all expenses that said principals may be forced to [illegible] to free themselves from any interference on the part of the Florida authorities, city or State.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Dick Moore, the St. Paul middleweight, who recently whipped "Buffalo," will try to get a match with Dan Creedon, the Australian.

Joe Goddard will fight Mick Dooley in Australia next week. Win or lose, Goddard will return to this country after the contest.

Mike Queenan, the sloppy-weather scrapper from the stock yards, is said to be locked up at Edwardsville, Ill., for his connection with the Sharpe-Crosby fight, says a Chicago writer.

Martin Costello, the middleweight pugilist, better known as "Buffalo" Costello, has work on his hands that will keep him busy for the next 200 days breaking rock at the Chicago Work-house, for beating a woman in the most brutal manner.

ASSOCIATION FOOT BALL.

Chicago and St. Louis Teams Will Meet in This City Next Week.

Those who have seen a college or Rugby foot ball game will deem it a revelation when they witness foot ball played under association rules. Under association rules the ball is not allowed to be carried or touched by the arms, and it is foot ball in the strictest sense regarding the marvelous skill, endurance and activity. The ball is always in plain sight of the audience and any one may readily understand the points of the game, even though he has not witnessed it before, the players are distinguished by the different colored suits they wear. In this country Rugby has been adopted by the colleges and seems to take with the general public, particularly in the East, while in Canada England and European countries the association foot ball is almost exclusively played. In England as high as 50,000 persons witnessed the championship games played under association rules last year. St. Louis will have an opportunity to judge the merits of association game Nov. 25 and 26 at Compton Avenue Park, when two of the best teams now in America will be pitted against each other. These are the picked St. Louis team and the picked Chicago team. The St. Louis team will line up about as follows:

Manager Holter of the Yale foot ball eleven says: "The integrity of Yale has been attacked and her athletic record assailed in several ways. It has been said that there are on the Yale team men hired under contracts, and a particular instance is cited where a base ball player last spring was paid to play for Yale. 'Someone even saw the contract.' I say emphatically that all the statements are false, and we will allow no such proceedings here. I deny that there is a man on the Yale team who is not a bona-fide student."

There will be only one game of the Sodality Foot Ball League next Sunday afternoon at Compton Avenue Park. The game will be between the St. Kevin and St. Bridget elevens. As these two teams are very strong and both tied for first place, a hotly-contested game may be looked for.

GOSSIP FOR TURFITES.

Another Report That the Madison Track Will Be Reopened.

It is now reported in local turf circles that Bookmaker Thomas Walsh and his partner and financial backer, Louis Celia, are seriously thinking of leasing the Madison track and inaugurating a winter meeting there in the near future. A rumor was in circulation last night to the effect that Walsh and Celia had a conference recently with Maj. Rainwater of the Merchants' Terminal Railway in regard to what kind of transportation facilities would be furnished by his company if the track was opened. The Merchants' Terminal manager was not in the city to-day, so it was impossible to ascertain if there was any foundation for the rumor. The track was bid in recently, when sold under a mechanics' lien, by the Gilsonite Gravel Road Co. and the Madison Construction Co., for the amount of their claims against the association that constructed the course. These two corporations, however, would, no doubt be exceedingly willing to lease the track for a reasonable consideration. As it is at present, they have a very large sized "white elephant" on their hands. Walsh and Celia, who, it is said, propose taking hold and operating the track in opposition to the course across the river close to the pool-room business on North Ninth street during the spring, summer and fall meetings of the St. Louis Jockey Club, Walsh managed the rooms which, so it is claimed, wound up on the season some $8,000 behind. Celia, Walsh's partner and backer, is said to be well fixed financially.

In New Jersey the race track situation is worse than it is in New York. The introduction of a repeal bill is a certainty there, and its passage looks at the present time to be assured. It is an open secret that the managers of the Guttenburg race track intended to race all winter, law or no law. The election of Sheriff Stanton effectually checked their designs. It can now be safely predicted that there will be no racing at Guttenburg this winter. Friends of the racing associations in New Jersey are still hopeful despite the terrific odds against them. They point to the vast amount of money invested, the people financially interested in different localities where the tracks have been built, and the difficulty of repealing a bill when so much wealth and influence are on the other side. It will be a pretty fight at Trenton next winter.

Bookmaker and horse owner Barney Schrieber has concluded to secure the services of the crack lightweight jockey, "Soup" Perkins until next spring. Barney wants the youngster to ride for him at San Francisco this winter. Schrieber and Chris Smith had a conference at Hawthorne Wednesday regarding the sale of Yo Tambien. The bookmaker offered $15,000 for her, but the little plunger says nothing less than $25,000 will secure the great mare. But for a suspicious leg, Schreiber would have bought First Ward from Alderman J. J. Coughlin.

Critical horsemen who have examined him express the fear that Flint, the yearling colt by Flambeau, out of Racine's dam, will not train. He is light under the knees and carries the heavy body of his sire above them. Bookmaker Frank Eckert paid $8,000 for him and naturally looks for a great race horse.

Nagel After the Sanitary Company.

At the Board of Health meeting yesterday afternoon a resolution was passed requesting the City Counselor to defer giving an opinion on the relative rights of the city and St. Louis Sanitary Co. under their contract, and report the matter back to the Mayor for action.

Mr. Nagel, who introduced the resolution, took the position that the city had decidedly the worst of it in its present contract with the sanitary company, and inasmuch as the company had violated it, he thought it should be rescinded and a new one made which would protect the city's interests better.

Under the present contract Mr. Nagel claims that the city must deliver all its garbage to the sanitary company. This is impracticable and impossible, yet the city can be held to it. There are other minor defects which should be remedied when the contract is revised.

It is probable that the Mayor will take some action looking towards an annulment of the contract.

A Demented Manufacturer.

Sheriff Garrett of St. Louis County has learned the identity of the demented man he arrested about a week ago near Creve Coeur Lake for disturbing the peace. He gave the name of H. Osgood Smith. Mr. J. W. Wood of 4849 Maffit avenue wrote to the Sheriff saying the man was H. O. Smith of Smith Bros., picture manufacturers at Waverly, N. Y. He came West several years ago and turned up at the house of James Conrad, where he took a room. He had a number of checks and other negotiable paper on his person.

Curious Origin of a Fire.

From the Scientific American.

The other day a heavy delivery wagon backed up in front of an Eighth avenue furniture store. The smoothness and slant of the asphalt gave greater momentum than was expected and the hind wheels struck the curb with a crash. The contact of stone and iron drew out sparks. Some of these flew into a wisp of packing hay that soon gave forth smoke and flame. A bucket of water subdued the blaze, but, as a fireman remarked, it was an interesting object lesson on one of the mysterious ways in which serious fires sometimes start.

ABOUT TOWN.

ROBBED BY WOMEN.—Sam Hardie of Nashville, Tenn., was robbed of $80 last night while in the company of Amy Wood and Lulu Morris at the Phœnix Hotel, on Pine and Thirteenth streets.

ROBBING A DRUNKEN MAN CHARGED.—George Cooper of 307 North Fifteenth street is languishing in jail, charged with stealing $6.10 from William Terrance, a barber, of 1400 Market street, last Thursday night while taking him home to sober up.

SMOKE ABATEMENT.—The smoke inspectors, in their report of the southern district, state that there are five plants there which use smokeless fuels, 159 that have abators and 612 which make no attempt to abate. These latter will be prosecuted within thirty days.

REVOLVER TO HIS HEAD.—August Rieger was walking in front of his home, 295 South Main street, last night when two men ordered him to throw up his hands and deliver, at the same time thrusting a revolver into his face. Mr. Rieger delivered his purse containing $9.

PAINT, OIL AND DRUG CLUB.—The Paint, Oil and Drug Club held its November meeting and banquet at the Mercantile Club last night. President Dougherty announced the standing committees for the year. Delegates to the National Association Convention were instructed to favor a new Government Department of Commerce.

HOUSE OF REFUGE REPORT.—The Board of Managers of the House of Refuge met yesterday afternoon in the Mayor's office. Supt. Gubor's report for the month showed that there were 308 inmates, of whom 221 were boys and 87 girls. The cost of maintaining the institution was $3,608.93.

A WATCH THIEF CAPTURED.—Frank Peterson went into a jewelry store at 1117 Franklin avenue last evening on the pretense of purchasing a watch. Several chronometers were laid out on the show-case, and the would-be purchaser grabbed three of them and ran off. He was pursued, captured and locked up at the Third District Station.

MIGHT HAVE LYNCHED HIM.—Albert Sassoway, who is accused of brutally assaulting 15-year-old Lydia Coleman in the woods near Kirkwood last Sunday, was to have had a preliminary hearing at Kirkwood yesterday. An excited crowd filled the court-room all day, but Sassoway waived examination and was held in $500 bond. A lynching was feared.

SUDDENLY STRICKEN BLIND.—Wiley Embrey, a patient at the City Hospital, while walking across one of the wards yesterday, suddenly went blind. He uttered an agonizing cry and groped about until help came. The doctors can assign no cause for his sudden and strange affliction. His eyes are wide open and the pupils unusually enlarged.

JOHN OVERALL SUED.—George Hoefner yesterday sued John H. Overall on a bill of exchange for $175, executed Aug. 13, 1891. The bill was on the Third National Bank to the order of M. P. Morsil. He indorsed it to T. B. Estep and he to Hoefner. The plaintiff could not cash it at the Bank, and Overall paid $85 on it and quit.

ACCUSED OF FORGERY.—George H. Howard, formerly in the employ of L. H. Peltason, local agent for J. L. Prescott & Co., stove polish dealers, was arrested at Piedmont, Mo., yesterday and brought to St. Louis, charged with forgery in the third degree. Howard, after being discharged by Peltason, forged the latter's name to three different checks, it is charged. He was placed in jail.

NEVER RETURNED FOR THE CHILD.—Mrs. Lizzie Wissler of 1432 North Twelfth street has been caring for a strange woman's infant boy for nearly two months past and, being too poor to raise the child, has asked the police to place it in St. Ann's Asylum. The baby was given to Mrs. Wissler by the mother, who also paid her $10 and told her to nurse the child and she would call later and give her address. She did not return.

A BUTCHER TAKEN IN.—William H. Binnix, a meat and vegetable dealer, is out $27.80 because of over-confidence. He advertised his meat-shop at 425 South Fourth street for sale and found a professing purchaser in one A. H. McCune. The price was $200 and McCune said it suited him, but that he did not have the money handy. He produced two alleged deeds for vast tracts of lands in Kansas and Colorado and gave them to Binnix as security. Then for a week it is alleged he emptied the cash-drawer and carried off a liberal supply of provisions. Binnix became suspicious and protested and McCune has failed to appear.

PLASTER FALLS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.—That the new High School held together until after the visit of the World's Fair Educational Commissioners is something to be thankful for. Yesterday it began going to pieces, the first indication of hasty and faulty construction being the fall of a slab of plaster about three feet square about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It occurred in Mrs. Cecelia Smith's senior class-room. The plaster alighted squarely on the head of Miss Frances Guerdon, daughter of the well-known druggist. A high coiffure saved the young lady from injury. The new Chouteau School is also said to show the results of hasty construction and is sinking in several places.

Pope Joan a Fiction.

From the London Daily News.

In spite of the learned historian by whom the story has been refuted, there is still a widespread popular belief that the existed in the Middle Ages, a female Pope. Pope Joan, as she is called, has even given her name to a game of cards which is mentioned in Sheridan's "School for Scandal." The tradition with regard to the female Pope has been traced back to the eleventh century, but she is said to have lived much earlier, her Pontificate having taken place in the ninth century and having lasted for more than two years. The name she is alleged to have assumed is John VII. At the last meeting of the Academy of Inscriptions in Paris, M. Muntz dealt another blow at a story which Gibbons, who cannot be suspected of Catholic prejudices, considered had been "annihilated" by two Protestant critics, Blondel and Bayle. M. Muntz characterized the legend as a vulgar fable invented in the Middle Ages. Never, he declares, after a careful study of the question, has a woman worn the tiara, and, moreover, there was no interregnum at the period when the pretended John VII. governed the Church.

THE FAIR

S. W. Cor. Seventh St. AND Franklin Av.

She is afraid to use Pearline. She admits that it will do just what is claimed for it, that it will save her time, take away the drudgery, and do the work better; but she argues that, if it does all this, it must ruin the clothes.

It's a poor argument. Because the dirt is loosened and separated and brought out, why need harm come to the fabric that holds it? It's a delicate matter to arrange — but Pearline does it. All its imitators would like to know how. Hundreds of millions of packages of Pearline have been used—by millions of women. If it had been dangerous to anything it would have died long ago.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 288 JAMES PYLE, New York.

EARLY CHEMISTRY.

The Ancient Egyptians Knew Many Chemical Processes.

Long before chemistry became a science many of its processes and apparatus were in common use. Prof. H. Carrington Bolton has made a list of some of these, finding that the Egyptians were acquainted with the process of glass making at least as far back as 2500 B. C.; that crucibles of the fifteenth century B. C. are now in the Berlin Museum, and that siphons also were used in the fifteenth century B. C. Blowpipes and bellows were early employed. The earliest chemical laboratories now known were those of the Egyptian temples, in which the priests prepared the incense, oils, etc., used in the temple services. The Bible contains frequent chemical allusions. Cupellation is plainly described by Jeremiah, metallurgical operations by Job, Ezekiel and others, and bellows by Jeremiah. Geber, the Arabian physician of the eighth century, wrote minutely of chemical processes. He described solution, filtration, crystallization, fusion, sublimation, distillation, cupellation, and various kinds of furnaces and apparatus. Perhaps the earliest drawings of strictly chemical apparatus are the figures of distilling apparatus in a Greek papyrus of the eleventh century. An alchemist's laboratory of the sixth or seventh century was uncovered in Egypt in 1888, and its contents included a bronze furnace, about fifty bronze vases with beaks, and some conical vessels resembling sand baths. The balance as an instrument of precision reached a high development under the Arabians as early as the twelfth century, when very accurate specific gravity determinations were described.

Character in the Thumb.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

"I can tell the character of a man by his thumb better than by his face," said a doctor yesterday. "It is peculiar how expressive the thumb is. It denotes the man's temperament, his brain power, his logic and his general character. The bad characteristics of a face may be hidden by whiskers, but there is no way to hide the marks of character on a thumb. Notice for yourself and see how a man's thumb will be indicative of his character. To me it is almost like an open book."

MISS PULLMAN ENGAGED TO A PRINCE.

It Is Again Said That the Chicago Heiress Will Marry Isenberg-Bernstein.

From the Baltimore American.

It is now stated by the intimate friends in Baltimore of Prince Von Isenberg-Bernstein that he and Miss Florence Pullman, daughter of Mr. George M. Pullman, the multi-millionaire of palace-car fame of Chicago, and niece of Rev. Royal H. Pullman, pastor of the Universalist Church of this city, are engaged to be married. Thus American millions will again go abroad for a title. No public announcement has yet been made of the engagement. Isenberg will be remembered as having received much attention last winter in Baltimore society, being introduced by his friends, Dr. and Mrs. George Reuling. He was extensively entertained, and it is a matter of much surprise that he resisted the charms of the beauties of Baltimore. However, he has chosen a wider field for matrimonial conquest, and Chicago will most likely send another representative to a German court. He will also be remembered as the young man who at one of the germans figured in a little episode which must have impressed him with the fact that among American girls "a man's a man for a' that." He was being entertained at one side of the hall, when a matron crossed the room and said to a young lady: "Come over; I want to introduce you to Prince von Isenberg." To this the girl replied: "Oh, no; if Prince von Isenberg wishes to be introduced to me, let him be brought to me, as any other gentleman would be."

Prince Isenberg was born in Offenbach in 1866 and at his baptism was given the following plurality of names: Leopold Wolfgang Ernest Marie Ferdinand Charles Michel Antoine Victor Louis Joseph Jean Baptiste Francois. He is an officer in the Prussian army and was introduced to American society by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Havemeyer at Newport, where he was their guest during the summer of 1892. The past summer he was the guest of the Pullmans at their cottage at Elberon, N. J., where he was entertained at the same time with the Reulings. Later in the autumn he visited Dr. and Mrs. Reuling at their home on West Monument street.

WHY HE WHISTLED.

It Wasn't for a Dog and He Plainly Said so.

From the Detroit Free Press.

His grip, his silk cap and his generally "at home" demeanor as he sat in the center of the car gave his occupation away. In addition to that his lips uttered a buzzing noise as he leaned back and looked out of the window, and about the time the irascible old chap on the next seat in front got ready to turn around and give him hail Columbia the buzzing changed to a whistle. It was a low, sad whistle, reminding one of grave-stones, sobbing skies, autumn leaves and chestnuts deposited in the garret years ago and left to slowly perish. It was a steady whistle, with no interval for refreshments. The whistler changed right off from "The Old Oaken Bucket" to "Sally In Our Alley," and from that to "The Man That Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" without slipping more than one cog. After forty minutes of it the old man got mad. The back of his neck began to get red, his ears twitched and the bald spot on his head assumed the rich, aristocratic color of a high-grade horseplum. Whirling himself around, he indignantly demanded:

"Mister, have you lost your dog?"

"No, sir," was the prompt reply.

"I thought you had!"

"No, I haven't any dog to lose. Why did you think I had?"

"Because you kept up such an infernal whistling."

"Oh! That's it! You are mistaken about the dog, sir. Haven't one, but just as I got aboard the train I received two telegrams. One of 'em says the firm I travel for is busted, and in the hands of the sheriff, and the other is from my wife, who is 750 miles from home and dead broke for money. I was trying to whistle up a new job for myself and a free pass to get the old lady home, but I don't think whistling will do it. Whistling for a dog! Not much! I don't do that amount of blowing for no 15 cents worth of canine!"

Linda Skated.

From the Detroit Free Press.

"Good mawnin', Linda, whar' yo' bin up dis way?" queried a Grove street colored woman of a female friend she met on Beaubien street the other forenoon.

"Whar' I bin? Say, Dinah, de longer yo' lib de mo' yo' knows 'bout some folks."

"Fur suah. I dun tole Mrs. Carter dat same ting las' nite. Whar' yo bin, Linda?"

"Up heah to house-clean fur white folks."

"An' yo' didn't clean?"

"No; de woman of de house didn't know a lady when she seed one, an' I dun come away."

"Bress my soul! When yo' rung de front doah-bell an' told her yo' was de lady who had come to do de cleanin' at a dollar and a half a day, she dun tole yo' to—to—?"

"To git around to de back doah an' work fur a dollar or skate."

"An' yo' skated?"

"Wid boaf feet."

"Dat's right, Linda—perfectly right! Bress me, but what ar' dem white folks a-comin' to, anyway! Why, Linda, if dat had bin me I should hev felt so insulted dat I believe I should hev animated dat woman's conduct wid a frezin' sagacity! Skate on, Linda. Yo's a bo'n lady, eben if nobody knows it!"

A Discredited Bible.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The family Bible in an uptown household does not occupy the permanent place now that it used to, for a very curious reason. A few days ago there was a little family reunion and some question arising over the age of the eldest son the father took the Bible to prove an assertion that he made. There could be no doubt, he said, as to the correctness of that record. After learning that he was correct in that instance he continued reading and found that, according to the record, his second child, a daughter, who, by the way, was present with her husband, was found to have been born just six months later than the son. The father doubted the truth of this, and when the daughter was questioned she blushingly admitted that years ago she had changed the year date from 1866 to 1868, thus gaining two years on old Father Time. She is ashamed of her action now and the father has lost faith even in Bible records.

HAS GAINED GROUND

The Theory That Treasurer Drake Misrepresented the Robbery.

POLICE STILL BUSY LOOKING UP HIS PAST HISTORY.

Officers of the Railroad, However, Believe the Young Man Had No Connivance With the Robbers—His Father Thinks a Blackmailer Planned the Whole Matter—Crimes.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—The theory that the story told by Treasurer John A. Drake regarding the robbery of $22,000 of Indiana, Illinois & Iowa Railway money may not be strictly true has gained ground with the police and they are still engaged in looking up the young man's record.

Officers of the road, however, are firm in the belief that young Drake is innocent, and the latter's father, Gen. Drake, is now working on a theory that the robbery was planned by a blackmailer.

"This talk about John taking that money is all bosh," said Gen. Drake. "I know there are suspicious circumstances, but I would wager my life that my son is innocent of such an action. To-day I found out that a man who was once on very familiar terms with my son had turned his enemy. He has written Mr. Drake blackmailing letters, and on looking up his record we find that it is not quite clear. He was about the only person in the city who knew of the custom of my son on pay-days. I have learned that he was seen with suspicious characters some time before the robbery, and that he had been very much interested in the case. To-day officers will be set at work to investigate this part of the case."

MENAGE ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The WORLD'S dispatch from Guatemala says: Acting on the request of the United States, the police have arrested Louis Menage, the refugee from Minneapolis, where he was the head of the Northwestern Guarantee Loan Co., and was concerned in gigantic speculations. He fled the country and was reported to have gone to Chili. Menage was greatly surprised by the arrest. His case resembles that of Weeks, and there is much comment in official circles, as it is known that the prisoner is under serious charges. Menage is cool but nervous and will not discuss the case.

Word comes from Washington that the State Department has no information of the arrest of Menage. The explanatory addition is made that if the department was informed of the arrest it would not give out the information. There are some slips to be feared after the arrest, and until extradition is assured the department will give no information.

SENTENCES COMMUTED.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—Gov. Stone this morning commuted the sentence of M. Devine to twenty-six months, with the benefit of the three-fourths rule. Devine was sentenced in March, 1892, in St. Charles County Circuit Court to three years for burglary in the second degree.

Gov. Stone also commuted the sentence of James Norvelle to seven years, with the benefit of the three-fourths rule. Norvelle was sentenced from Sullivan County to eleven years for murder in the second degree.

JACK THE SLASHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Jack the Slasher was out at work again Wednesday night. The peculiarity of this burglar or burglars is that nothing is carried away from the scene of action but property of all kinds is destroyed. The victim this time was John Prescott, an electrician on Brightwood avenue. He awoke early yesterday morning to find that the wearing apparel of the entire family had suffered under the knife and scissors of the fiends. Even table linen was slashed up and the pieces piled up with the fragments of clothing in the middle of the floor. Nothing was taken away but a pair of trousers and a silver watch. It was thought there were two members of the party as both a knife and a pair of scissors were used in the work of destruction.

CONFESSED AND WAS ARRESTED.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—Charles F. Clay, three years ago head book-keeper of the Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings Bank, now defunct, gave himself up yesterday to the Chicago police, confessing that he was a defaulter. If he had not confessed he would never have been arrested, as the company were not aware of his shortage until they examined the books after his confession.

FOURTEEN PRISONERS ESCAPED.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Nov. 17.—Nine of the fourteen prisoners in the county jail made their escape last evening by bending the iron bars in the upper windows. All the prisoners would have made their escape had the jailer not put in an appearance when he did.

WEATHERBY PLEADED GUILTY.

TIPTON, Mo., Nov. 17.—J. H. Weatherby, who committed an assault upon Miss Rosa Tucker in August last, pleaded guilty last evening and was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary.

THE FIRST MONGOLIAN BURGLAR.

Although a Dude, He Broke Into the Residence of a Fellow-Countryman.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

For many moons L. Long Sing has been the dude of the Chinese colony in Pittsburg. He parts his name in the middle, and his clothes have been envied by every Celestial in town. But L. Long Sing has fallen. He now occupies a cell in the Central Police Station and is charged with being a bold, bad burglar.

He admits the charge, so there is no doubt about it. Had it not been for Detectives Bob Robinson and Sol Coulson there would not have been a Chinese burglar behind iron bars.

His crime is a serious one among his people. He broke into the residence of Young Yuen, the Chinese merchant at 503 Grant street, who is the richest Mongolian in the city, and carried off $100, a $300 gold watch and a diamond pin.

A few nights ago Young Yuen slept soundly in the rear of his store. L. Long Sing did not. He had long been a member of the hard bunk company, so to speak, and he knew not how to recuperate. He knew Young Yuen, and also was aware that he was the richest Chinaman in town and had plenty of money and jewelry in his place. Sing thought the matter over, hit the pipe two or three times and finally came to the conclusion he would confiscate some of Young Yuen's riches.

L. Long Sing was seen to display the watch and was arrested. The stolen property was found on him. He then confessed.

When it became known that L. Long Sing had been arrested for burglary there was great excitement in Chinatown, and many of the prisoner's friends called at the Central Station and asked to see him in vain. L. Long Sing is the first Chinese burglar ever captured in Pittsburg. In fact, it is said, they rarely steal from each other.

Following the Governor's Example.

Father: "When I was your age I earned my own living and never spent any but my own money."

Son: "Well, father, I never spent any but your money either."

The subject of Dr. Holland's sermon for next Sunday will be "The Society Woman."

IN OUR HARBOR

[Vi]king Ship Will Be Anchored To-Morrow.

[DESCR]IPTION OF THE QUEER CRAFT OF THE NORSEMEN.

How It Was Built and Brought to America to Sustain the Claims of Leif Ericsson as the Discoverer of the American Continent—Reception Arrangements.

The Norwegian ship Viking, which is expected to reach here to-morrow, is an exact copy of the old Norse Viking ships of a thousand or more years ago. It is not fashioned according to any written description or tradition of what these vessels were, but is an exact replica of the skeleton of an old ship which was exhumed about thirteen years ago from a mound near the old town of Sandefjord in Norway, and is now one of the most prized treasures of the University of Norway.

The buried ship evidently served as the tomb of some noble old seaking, some chieftain among the Vikings. Just amidships was found a peculiar structure, similar in many respects to the modern log cabin, and which served as the sepulchre chamber. Inside were human bones, the bones of a little dog, the bones and feathers of a peacock, some fish hooks and several bronze and lead ornaments. Round the ship were found the skeletons of many horses and dogs, probably sacrificed at the time of the burial. No weapons or jewels were found, but the reason was very apparent. Hundreds of years before the mound had been opened by robbers, who had looted the tomb of everything of value. Either accidentally or by design, the vessel had been buried in a bed of blue clay, which acted as a preservative of all woodwork. Otherwise no trace of the vessel would have remained.

The idea of reproducing this vessel originated with Capt. Magnus Anderson, editor of a paper called the Norwegian Seamen's News and published in Norway. He conceived and safely executed the idea of making the voyage in such a ship from Norway to America and thus proving the feasibility of the claim, made by all Norsemen, that one of their countrymen, Leif Ericson, discovered America hundreds of years before Columbus was born. According to this old tradition this old rover or pirate boldly sailed across the rough Atlantic Ocean from Greenland and cruised along the coast of Labrador and Northern New England. He christened the land he discovered with the pleasant name of Finland, because he found many wild vines growing there. In Boston there is at present a movement on foot to erect a monument in honor of the claims of this hardy seaman.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SHIP.

The modern Viking ship was built by Christian Christensen in Tramnes, near Sandifjord, under the direction of one of the builders connected with the Horton Navy Yard. It has no deck and the bottom is similar to that of an ordinary rowboat. In the stern there is a throne, used in the time of the Vikings by the chief only. The rudder is on the starboard side. The boat has only one mast which can be taken down, and one large, square sail made of red and white-striped duck. The high-curved bow, as seen in the cut, is handsomely carved in the shape of a dragon's head, the tail of which is curled up at the stern, and is painted gorgeously in green, red and gold. In the third plant from the gunwale oarlocks are set with provision for sixteen pairs of oars. It is built of oak planks a little over half an inch thick. It is 77 feet in length, beam 16 feet and from gunwale to base of keel is 6 feet. The wood of which it is built was all obtained in Norway with the exception of the oak keel. No piece of oak large enough for this was to be found in that country so it was obtained from the United States.

The only radical departure in the construction of the Viking from the primitive ship is the introduction of four water-tight compartments containing the compass, ship's instruments, charts and the crew's baggage. It was also further equipped with a small life boat and a safety float of cork, which, in case of accident, could carry the whole crew. No ballast was carried on board except the fresh water. When that ran low sea water was taken in. The fund for building the vessel was raised by popular subscription in Norway. The Norwegian Shipping Gazette raised a quarter of her cost and patriotic countrymen gave the remainder. She was launched Feb. 4 and sailed from Bergen April 30, for this country. Newfoundland was sighted May 27, and after visiting Cape Sable the Viking sailed directly for New London.

Capt. Magnus Anderson, the originator of the scheme to exhibit the vessel at the World's Fair after making the voyage across the Atlantic, is in command. He is already well known to the public having crossed the ocean before in an open boat called the Ocean, and who, in spite of heavy gales and big seas, brought his 19-foot craft nearly safe into Newfoundland, when a mountainous wave upset the boat. The compass and instruments were lost, and without them it was impossible to continue the voyage even though they righted their boat. He and his solitary companion were picked up by a passing vessel and brought safely into port. Capt. Anderson became a sailor at the age of 15. He was made mate when 19 years old and three years later was a full-fledged Captain. He is a fitting type of his hardy ancestors, and in his veins flow the pure blood of the old Norse pirate Vikings.

THE CREW.

The crew were selected from a list of 280 volunteers from the different ports of Norway. They are every one of them sailors—courageous and able—and represent the very best material of the class which in olden days made the name of Viking known and feared wherever they went. Jonah Gustav Gunderson is first mate and Christen Christensen second mate. The latter was Capt. Anderson's only companion on the trip from Norway to Newfoundland in a small open boat. Eight men compose the remainder of the crew, all of whom have spent the greater portion of their lives on the ocean. Each one has a history of shipwrecks and peril through which they have passed, and the account of their many adventureres would fill volumes. During the voyage over the crew slept on skins of reindeer just as the sea dogs of the North did in their voyage 1,000 years ago.

TO MEET THE VIKING.

Mayor Walbridge held a conference with Capt. St. Clair of the harbor boat this morning, and it was arranged that the boat should take a number of prominent citizens up the river to meet the Viking. The details of the arrangement will be completed this afternoon at a meeting of Mayor Walbridge, Wm. K. Anderson, President of the Merchants Exchange; Capt. Dan Able, Commissioner of the Harbor, and Capt. St. Clair of the harbor boat, at which it will be decided just how many will be invited to join the party, how far they will go up the river, etc. The Mayor said there would probably be fifty in the party, the selection of most of whom would be left to Mr. Anderson. He said they would probably meet the distinguished visitors somewhere near the "Chain of Rocks" and bring them to the city on the harbor boat. A lunch will be served on the boat, and on arrival at the city the visitors will be escorted from the levee to the Merchants' Exchange.

DID NOT USE THE LICENSE.

Return of a Document to Recorder Hobbs Develops a Peculiar Love Story.

In this morning's mail Recorder Hobbs received from Toledo, O., a blank marriage license issued on July 27 last to Alex Andreas and Miss Emilie Schaefer, both of 1450 Clinton street. The Recorder has been on a still hunt for the license for some time, and when it turned up it brought to light a queer story.

Mrs. M. A. Schaefer is a middle-aged German widow who lived with her two unmarried sons and a daughter at 1450 Clinton street. Three other daughters are married and living away from the city. Two years ago Emilie, then a stout, good-looking girl of 18 years, went out as a domestic and to fill the vacant place in the family Mrs. Schaefer took in a boarder, Alex Andreas, a cigarmaker about 30 years of age who worked in Rice's Commercial cigar factory. Emilie used to visit her home often, but neither her mother nor brothers observed any growing intimacy between her and their quiet boarder. But then those things never are seen. On July 27 last Andreas and Emilie turned up at the house about noontime and flourished a marriage license. The mother laughed and thought it a good joke, so did the brothers. Emilie and her lover were content to leave them think so. They went out, saying they were going to Rev. Henry Naumann, pastor of the Eden Methodist Episcopal Church at 2607 North Nineteenth street to be married. They were not married, as Andreas objected to letting a preacher have a hand in the matter. They took the evening train for the East and have been having such a pleasant honeymoon no doubt that they neglected letting the folks at home know anything of their whereabouts.

Mrs. Schaefer, the mother, when told, this morning, that the license had come back from Toledo clapped her hands for joy. She does not speak English but gave way in voluble German to expressions of delight. "They are married and safe now, I know," she said, "for I have three married daughters in Toledo. I shall hear from her now, I know."

Asked if she knew where her daughter had been since leaving the city, she said: "She never wrote me a line. She and Alex left the house with the license that we thought was a joke and that was the last we saw of them. We heard, though, that they were in Rochester, N. Y., and then in Boston. From there they went to some town in Maine. My son knows the place, and now from what you say, they must be in Toledo. I guess they will be back here soon."

At the Recorder's office Marriage License Clerk Harmon said that when the license failed to come back he wrote to Mrs. Schaefer, and she sent back word that no marriage had taken place, and that Andreas was in Maine. She gave the address of a little town, neither Mr. Harmon or Mrs. Schaefer could recollect it this morning. Mr. Harmon wrote there demanding the return of the license. It came back this morning without a word of explanation in an envelope bearing a Toledo postmark.

It is probable that the young folks got a new license after they left St. Louis.

John J. Ingalls' Lecture.

Hon. John J. Ingalls, the well-known Kansas orator, will deliver his lecture on "American Politics and Politicians" at Exposition Hall to-morrow night. The ex-United States Senator is as well qualified perhaps as any man in the country to handle the subject. The scholarly attainments of ex-Senator Ingalls made him a conspicuous figure on the floor of the United States Senate, and there was never a large and enthusiastic crowd lacking in the gallery when it was known he was to address that body. The present lecture which embodies results and conclusions drawn from years of experience in the field of American politics is said to be Mr. Ingalls' masterpiece. His appearance on the platform to-morrow night is bound to be the occasion of a large gathering, particularly as the proceeds go to a worthy charity, the Woman's Exchange.

Collector Charged With Embezzlement.

Harry Armitage, general agent of the Ætna Loan Association, 205 Wainwright Building, swore out a warrant for embezzlement to-day against August Sacher, living at 4742 Newcomb place. Armitage alleged that Sacher, who has been a collector for the concern for a year, failed to account for $51 which he collected about four months ago.

AN ENEMY TO THE OYSTER.

Great Destruction in the Delaware Bay Beds by the "Borer."

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

The "borer," a pest of about the size of a small strawberry, is working great havoc among the oyster beds in Delaware Bay and tributary streams.

Capt. Moses Veale of the oyster schooner White Lily says that the destructive powers of the "borer" have been known to oystermen only a few years. He has followed oyster dredging nearly thirty-five years, and the first "borer" he saw was about ten years ago, but their ravages in the oyster beds were comparatively unnoticed until last year.

Capt. Veale said that "last year the number of dead oysters with holes made by borers in the shell became so great that oystermen were alarmed. This year the work of the borers has become a grave matter, and if it continues many days will be depopulated of oysters. From one bed we dredged on this trip we got 1,900 baskets of oysters, but out of these only 200 were good, the dead oysters having been killed by borers. A peculiar thing about the ravages of the 'borers' is their apparent selection of the best oyster beds. We have found this to be true several times this season. We have found a bed of small oysters almost entirely free from 'borers.' This bed will be separated from another bed of larger oysters by 200 feet, but this latter bed will be so badly affected by the creatures that it will hardly pay to work it.

"From what I can learn from oystermen the destruction wrought by borers is much more severe in Delaware Bay than in other places.

"The work of the borer this year makes a double misfortune, for the oyster beds were badly damaged by the big storms in August and September. Very few people who are not in the oyster dredging business know anything of the methods of the borer. When I first took notice of its work I secured several oysters just after the borer had fastened itself to the shell. When the borer fastens itself it holds on like a leech, and it is with difficulty that it can be removed with the fingers.

"Sometimes the 'borer' fastens itself to the oyster shell near the edge, and then the oyster is not killed. When the hole of the 'borer' is made near the center of the shell the oyster is attacked in its vital parts and dies in three or four days after the hole is first made."

Some of the bed-owners near Maurice River have lost large sums of money this year on account of the "borer." Thomas Munsey, who has a number of large beds, it is said, will lose $10,000. Several other men have lost nearly as much through this unlooked-for calamity, and a number of men have lost in the neighborhood of $2,000 or $3,000. All oystermen say there can be no way of taking away the "borer" without destroying the oyster-beds.

Artificial Eyes.

From the London Daily News.

A prominent manufacturer of artificial eyes has unburdened himself on what he considers a grievance. He says that the public, and therefore opticians, will no longer pay the price for a good and well-made article, and that the market is being flooded with "cheap foreign rubbish." He alleges that the cheap eyes crack after very few weeks' wear. Pursuing the subject further we are informed that summer time is the best season for the sale of artificial eyes. People are at that time of the year more particular as to their appearance, and discover more readily that the artificial eye is beginning to lose its pristine perfection. Another point is that there are many people looking about whose outward appearance suggests that they are in full possession of both visual organs, but have not even one. "I have fitted," said the manufacturer, "scores of people with two glass eyes." The innocent deception is the more successfully carried out owing to the fact that the blind, from force of habit, no doubt, look, or appear to look, one full in the face when talking.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—Charles Johnson, charged with assault with intent to kill in shooting Henry Fisher of 6317 Onida avenue on Nov. 24, 1892, is being tried in the Criminal Court to-day.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—The trade was ready to breed a panic on yesterday's curb on an absurd, in fact, idiotic rumor that the Bank of England was in financial straits. They awoke this morning to discover the "old lady of Threadneedle street" was still attending to her knitting at the same old stand, and that no signs of a panic could be descried on the whole financial or commercial horizon. A better feeling developed, not near so many "jags" of wheat were hurled around the pit, and some operators actually made up their minds it was time to buy for a turn. Before the day ended they discovered they were mistaken. However, during the first hour or so considerable strength was displayed and as much as ¼c advance was paid. Then came a sudden drop and all was chaos. Everyone tried to sell at once, the longs to get out and the bears to help the grand smash, and a decline of 1⅛c in Dec and 1¼c in May was soon recorded from the top. There was not much recovery from this and the close was heavy at ⅝c decline from yesterday.

The "natural reaction" from yesterday's extreme depression was one explanation of this morning's improved feeling and prices, the small receipts here and at all Western winter wheat markets, 680 cars at Duluth and Minneapolis, against 1061 one year ago, and a predicted cold wave also giving a decidedly stronger tinge to the market. Clearances were much larger, also, amounting to 118,500 pkgs flour and 183,500 bu wheat from five ports and had a good effect. The Russian official report was bearish, but appearently not much heeded; that is, not during the early hours. It probably was after domestic markets began breaking. This started shortly before 12 o'clock and carried prices down rapidly. It was the old, old story of liquidation. This started in Chicago, where there was a rapid drop to 60c for Dec. Buying at once let up here, except where shorts and put holders were taking in profits, and being without support, a strong onslaught by the bears smashed prices down heavily. The late cables afforded no satisfaction, as Liverpool was quoted ¼@½d lower, Paris off ⅛c, Berlin a fraction lower and Antwerp a turn easier. All domestic markets went the same way and the close was near the bottom.

FUTURES—Dec opened at 57¼c and sold to 57c, to 57⅜c (offered on call at 57⅜c, with 57¼c bid), to 56¼c, to 56⅛c to 56⅜@¼c at the close. May sold at 64⅞c to 65¼c to 65c to 64⅞c to 65c (offered on call at 65⅛c, with 65c bid) to 64c to 64⅛c to 63⅞c to 64⅛@¼c, closing at 64⅛@¼c sellers. On call 56⅛c was bid for Nov and 58⅛c for Jan, but at the close Nov nominally 55½c and Jan 58⅛c.

SPOT GRADES.—Lower and after call, futures declining and demoralized, cash was practically unsalable. The prices that millers would pay were far below what sellers felt they could accept and carriers pulled out altogether. On call—No 2 red sold regular at 56¼c. No 3 red in United at 53c. No 4 winter regular at 50c. Rejected offered regular at 44½c, bid 43c E side. No 2 hard winter regular at 54c, bid 53c.

Sales: No 2 red—1,110 bu and 12 cars regular at 56¼c. No 3 red—5 cars in United Elevators at 53c. No 4 winter—1 car regular at 50c.

SAMPLES—Received 1,518 sks, 35 cars local, 2 cars through. The sample market was completely demoralized. The small sales were generally made early and do not fully reflect the decline established. Sales: Red winter—104 sks at 49c, 50 at 53c, 38 at 53½c, 24 at 54c, 150 at 54½c, 270 at 55c. In special bin—2 cars rejected at 44c, 1,500 bu No 3 in Crown at 52½c, 4,000 bu do at 53½c, 1 car No 3 also at 53½c, 2 cars at 54c. East track—1 car weevily and 1 car No 4 at 51c, 1 car No 3 at 53c. This side, track—2 cars ungraded at 52c and 54c.

Corn—Of all the dead speculative markets, this was one of the worst ever seen, only one trade being made during the first two hours of the session. Continued small receipts and the stronger cash market gave the future market more firmness, and all domestic speculative centers were on the mend also. The clearances were 187,500 bu from four ports but cables were dull and Liverpool lower. The break-down in wheat did not weaken corn, the near months being especially firm, and at close ⅛c above yesterday, while May just about held its own.

FUTURES—Dec opened at 32⅜c, sold off to 32¼@32⅜c and up to 32⅞c at close. Year sold at 32¾c. May sold early at 36⅜c, on noon call at 36½c and afterwards off to 36⅛c, but at close 36⅝c bid. Nov offered on call at 32⅞c, bid 32⅝c. Jan offered early at 33¼c and late bid 33c.

SPOT GRADES—A better demand and a stronger market. Shippers were after supplies and local buyers taking hold more freely, but small offerings restricted trade. No 2 sold regular at 32⅝c and a few cars in special houses at 32¾c. No 3 this side at 31⅞c regular offered at 31¾c and that bid East side. No other grades offered on call, where 32⅝c bid for No 2 white E side, 31½c for No 3 do this and E side, 25c for No 4 regular.

Sales: No 2—1 car in F, 1 in C "B." and 14 regular at 32⅝c, 2 in F, 1 in C and 2 in M at 32¾c. No 3—1 car in M at 31⅞c.

SAMPLES—In demand and firm. Sales: East track—2 cars No 3 at 32¼c, 1 do at 32¾c, 2 No 2 at 33⅛c. Track this side—1 car white ear at 36c. Sks rtd—50 sks new white and 54 and 144 sks new St Charles at 34½c. 100 sks white ear at 38c. Sks lots on orders, 40@41c.

Oats—The speculative market was weak and declined, besides being very dull. Early May had 31c bid, but afterwards sold at 30⅞c, and at close offered at 30¼c. Dec offered at 27⅝c, bid 27¼c, and for Nov 27c bid.

SPOT GRADES—No 2 offered regular at 28c, bid 26⅞c, and for E side 27½c bid. For No 3 regular only 25c bid.

SAMPLES—Received 15 cases. While the market was not quotably lower it was very dull. Offerings were not large, but ample for the limited demand. A few cars white and mixed were taken by local dealers for which they paid about yesterday's prices. There was no disposition on the part of sellers to discount prices in order to force sales, and considerable of the small offerings were carried over. Sales were as follows:

By sample in special bin—1 car No 3 white at 29¼c, 1 thin do at 28¼c, 3 No 2 at 27½c, 1 No 4 white and 1 No 3 at 26c.

By sample on track—1 car No 2 white, switched, at 30¼c. Sacked lots on orders, 31@32c.

Rye—Strong and in demand, but little to be had. Sale: 1 car No 2 in M at 45c.

Barley—Demand active and prices steady. Sales: Minnesota—5,000 bu at 52½c, 20,000 bu at 53c, 2 cars at 59½c, 1 car at 60c. 175,000 bu on p t. The latter lot was purchased by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, and was the largest sale ever made in this market.

Hay.

Received, 535 tons; shipped, 132 tons. The market for the best grades was steady, although trading was light. Local dealers, who were the main buyers of good hay, were holding off, buying only enough from day to-day to supply their immediate wants. Demand for shipment light. Poor and medium grades dull and weak.

Sales this side—1 car grassy mixed at $8.50, 3 do at $9, 1 at $9.75, 1½ clover mixed some stained at $9. Timothy—1 car choice at $11, 1 car strictly do at $11.50, 1 fancy at $12, 2 strictly do at $12.50, 1 extra do at $13. Prairie—1 car at $7, 2 at $7.50, 1 at $8, 4 at $8.50, 3 at $9, 1 at $9.50. East Side—Timothy—5 cars at $11, 1 at $12, 1 at $12.50.

Flour and Feed.

Flour—The flour market was demoralized in sympathy with wheat. There was little demand, and buyers contended for lower prices. Sales: 700 bbls on p t.

Provisions.

Lower again and a dull and weak market.

Pork—Standard mess selling at $16; on orders, $16.75@17.

Lard—Prime steam, 8¼c.

Bacon—Packed shoulders, 7⅛c; longs, 9¼c; c'ribs, 9¼c; shorts, 9½c. On orders—Longs, 11c; c'ribs, 11c; short clear, 11¼c.

Dry Salt Meats—Shipping age f o b on cash orders—Shoulders, 6¾c; longs and c'ribs, 7⅞c; shorts, 8⅛c; boxed, 15c higher.

Green Meats—Ham from the block, 8¾c; bellies, 9c; boxed, 15c higher.

Highwines—Steady at $1.15.

Lead and Spelter.

Lead—Sales were reported yesterday at 3.20c to 3.17½c, but it would appear that these were deliberate misquotations, made for the purpose of influencing the market in the interest of the party who reported these sales. As late yesterday buyers were bidding 3¼c for large quantities and 6 cars sold at 3.27½c, it can be plainly seen the 3.17½@3.20c sales, to place it mildly, were misstatements.

Spelter—Nominal at about 3.42½c.

Butter and Cheese.

Butter—The market is in very bad shape, and although prices have been reduced considerably, trade does not improve. The fact is that the scarcity of butter a short time ago forced many retailers to fall back on oleomargarine, and the genuine article will not regain its prestige until the price is put down so that it can be brought in direct competition with the spurious article. Supplies of all kinds of butter are steadily accumulating and sales in lots are difficult even at lower prices.

Commercial Notes.

Weather mild and dry in this country and mild and moist in England.

The potato crop in Saxony, according to official reports, is above an average.

Liverpool receipts past three days, 341,000 bu wheat, of which 135,000 bu from America, and 40,000 bu corn.

The wheat yield in Germany is officially reported at 25.3 bu per acre, against 24.1 bu last year. The total product is 128,000,000 bu.

Another cold wave coming and another freeze on top the drought. Truly the wheat plant is going through a great deal of trouble at an early stage in its existence.

Estimates have been that the Russian wheat crop was 100,000,000 bu above the average. The Minister of Agriculture of that country says it is 96,600,000 bu larger.

Of about 70,000 bu wheat arriving in Liverpool this week, only 250,000 bu, or a little over a third, was from this country, showing how much heavier the receipts are from other countries, probably Russia.

Dornbusch claims that the reports regarding the seeding operations in France, Belgium and the Netherlands, Germany, Austro-Hungary, Italy, Spain and Scandinavia are favorable. Other reports are not quite as satisfactory.

A marked cold wave covers the Northwest and the Central Rocky Mountain region. The temperature is zero or below in Northern Minnesota and Manitoba. A decided fall may be expected throughout the central valleys to-night. Snow is reported from Montana, Wyoming and Colorado, and light rains from the Lower Mississippi Valley. Forecast: Much colder Saturday morning.

The Russian Minister of Agriculture has issued his annual estimates upon the Russian crops of 1893. They are reckoned in chetverts, equal to about five and one-half bu. The estimates are as follows: Rye, 131,074,000, an increase of 19,084,000 over the average; summer wheat, 43,593,550, an increase of 15,527,600; winter wheat, 14,665,500, an increase of 2,040,260; oats, 117,184,800, an increase of 21,919,500; barley, 40,144,000, an increase of 13,967,800.

The annual report of Sir John B. Laws regarding the English crop showed a smaller outturn than most estimates put forward. The aggregate results are 44,000,000 bu, leaving only 40,000,000 for consumption. His figures in the last year or two have, however, been slightly below the official estimates, but not materially. His estimates are based on the average outturn of wheat from a series of plots which have been treated differently for a consecutive number of years. He puts the area of the United Kingdom in wheat at 1,952,476 acres and the average yield at 22½ bu per acre. He estimates the average population at 38,645,190 and allowing 6 bu per capita the total requirements will be about 232,000,000 bu, necessitating imports of 192,000,000 bu less of course the amount of old wheat carried over.

Kansas City—Representatives of several large Baltimore concerns, who make a specialty of handling Western corn, are here to-day. John Snyder of Smith, Hammond & Co. has just returned from Iowa and Nebraska and says there's no new corn moving at all. Up to Nov 15 of last year he had bought 2,000 cars of corn. His purchases so far this year are only 200 cars.

A REMARKABLE CENTENARIAN.

Daniel Hockaday Preparing to Celebrate His 114th Birthday.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

On Nov. 17 Alexander Hockaday, residing in Spencer Township, Harrison Co., Ind., about twenty-five miles west of New Albany, will celebrate the 114th anniversary of his birth. He was born in Virginia, Nov. 17, 1779, the date, it is claimed, being authenticated by a record of a family Bible, now in the old man's possession. When quite young he came to Kentucky with his parents, but removed to Indiana when that State was a part of the great Northwestern Territory. Seventy years ago he removed to his farm in Harrison County, on which he now resides, and has lived there continuously since that time. His wife is still living, at the age of 86 years, and is sufficiently active to perform many of the household duties.

Mr. Hockaday still retains his mental faculties almost unimpaired, and is wonderfully active for his years. He says he has voted at every presidential election since 1800, a period of ninety-three years, and has always cast his vote for the Democratic nominee, his three last votes cast having been for Mr. Cleveland. The old man seems to suffer no abatement of strength, and bids fair to live many years more.

Newly Married.

From the Chicago Record.

The Young Housewife: "Have you any canvas-back duck?"

Butcher: "Yes, ma'am."

The Young Housewife: "Well, I wish you'd send me one. And I wish you'd have it taken out of its canvas, if you please."

Soft as a Glove.

From Truth.

Youthful Romeo: "Would I were a glove upon that hand!"

Slangy Juliet: "You couldn't be more of a kid than you are."

New York—The opening of the stock market this morning was buoyant, and with but one exception the whole list of active stocks was from ⅛ to ¾ per cent higher. The better demand and higher prices for stocks to-day was mainly due to the sharp advance in the price of Americans in London, and in the denial of the sensational stories regarding the heavy losses and disagreements supposed to have occurred in the Bank of England. The London cables this morning stated that the whole subject was grossly exaggerated. It is true, the bank lost some money on two recent failures, but it was under £200,000. These reassuring cables coupled with higher prices from the English market, started bears to cover and market was strong all day with the exception of Reading stock, while declined 3 points on the news of shutting down of that company's coal mines and on unfavorable reports. Earnings of St. Paul for the second week of Nov decreased $43,000. Raw Sugar has been reduced 1-16c for centrifugals; muscavados remain unchanged.

Pottsville, Pa.—Owing to the glutted condition of the coal market the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co. has closed its fifty odd collieries in this region. It is not known how long the suspension will continue.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—Wheat opened ⅛c higher with Dec at 60⅝c on lighter Northwestern receipts and on better clearances, and fair buying by Boyden & Co. and Pool-Sherman, climbed another ⅛c to 61⅛c. The Russian crop reports showed a large increase over an average and acted as a bear factor and the price for Dec went down ⅛c to 60⅛c, but rallied later to 61c. The corn market was steady and for the first two hours did not fluctuate more than ⅛c either way from the opening. May started at 40⅛c, yesterday's closing figures, went up ⅛c on reports of an expected decrease in the estimated receipts, lost ⅛c on receipts larger than the estimate and on firmness of wheat rallied ⅛c to 40⅝c. Provisions were a little higher on small estimated receipts for to-morrow. Jan pork opening 2½c lower at $13.10 and gaining 10c. Lack of trade sent it down to $13.05, with a rally later to $13.17½.

Wall Street.

WALL STREET, Nov. 17, 10:15 a. m.—The speculation of the Stock Exchange opened with a strong tone, and the first quotations made were at an advance of ⅛@½ per cent. In the early dealings realizing sales induced a very slight reaction, but the upward movement was quickly resumed and prices moved up ⅛@1 per cent, the latter in Distilling. Subsequently the market became depressed and is still heavy. American Tobacco broke 5 per cent to 84½ on unfavorable reports of a contemplated change in the tariff. The National Lead Co. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock payable Dec 15.

11 a. m.—The reaction which set in about 10:15 a. m. continued until 10:30, when a reaction of ⅛@⅜ had been effected, in which the industrials were most prominent. Then came a rally, followed by another reaction, which was succeeded by a recovery and the market is now firm and prices are ⅛@⅜ above the lowest point touched. Chicago Gas, Sugar and General Electric were most prominent in the recovery.

After a strong opening and fractional advance in prices the market became feverish and unsettled, moving up and down in rapid succession, but upon narrow fluctuations, except in a few instances. Since 11 o'clock the general market has been fairly firm, and at this hour prices are ¼@1¼ per cent higher. Delaware & Hudson, Great Northern preferred, Chicago Gas and Sugar preferred being most prominent in the improvement. American Tobacco was notably weak, breaking 7½ per cent to 79½, which is the current quotation. The stock was adversely affected by the announcement of the commencement of a suit against the company by the Attorney General of New Jersey attacking the legality of the corporation and to compel it to sell its products without discrimination against any dealer. Rumors of adverse tariff legislation also depressed the stock. Reading was also heavy on rumors concerning the receivers' report and fell off 2½ per cent, the bond issues were also very weak, the preferred incomes declining 3@3⅞ per cent.

Noon—Money on call easy at 1@1½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@6 per cent; sterling exchange strong with actual business in bankers' bills at 484@485½ for demand and at 482⅜@483 for sixty days; posted rates, 483½@486; commercial bills, 4.81½@482; silver certificates, 69⅞@70¼; no sales; bar silver, 70; Mexican dollars, 56⅞.

Congressional Action and Stocks.

Broker John H. Blessing, discussing probable congressional action and stocks to-day, said: "It seems this Congress will take off the present bounty on sugar, because producers of wheat, corn, etc., argue that they have the same rights to expect a bounty on what they raise, and in order to reconcile the different interests the bounty must be removed. If this is done, then there must be a duty placed on raw sugar or else it will bankrupt every Southern planter. The idea is to put a duty of ½ or ⅝c per pound on foreign raw sugar, and this will not only protect the sugar industry of the South, but will, at the same time, increase the revenue of the United States. Once this is done, it puts the sugar refineries in competition with foreign refined sugar and as the American Sugar Refining Co. is now protected by ⅛c per lb on refined sugar they make just that much on each and every barrel of say 240 lbs, which is $1.20 per bbl. The present duty of ½c on refined sugar is a tax on the consumer in the interest of the American Sugar Refining Co., whereas a duty of ½c on raw sugar would go to increase the revenue of the Government and benefit the masses instead of a few stockholders, as is the case under the tariff now in force, and it follows that with a duty of ½c on raw sugar the American Sugar Refining Co. will no longer enjoy its present monopoly."

CITY NEWS.

PRIVATE matters skillfully treated and medicines furnished. Dr. Dinsbeer, 814 Pine st.

A White City Version.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"I do not know that any one else was so impressed, but the whole time I was at the White City I could not refrain from thinking that it was a realization of the eternal city, as John saw it in his vision on the Isle of Patmos," said an enthusiastic lady yesterday. "If one study the two and compare them it is wonderful their points of resemblance. The gathering together of all nations and tongues; the very best of man's handiwork—and genius being chosen for exhibition, together with the vast number of people who came to sit in judgment on the works of art and man's respective branches of trade and industry, seem a fulfillment of the prophecies written hundreds of years ago. The whole time I stood gazing at the magnificent panorama seen from the peristyle, I kept wondering if Gabriel had not really sounded his trumpet, and whether the visitors who had come from all parts of the earth after all were not spirits of angels sent to see what man had done in the land of liberty which the Lord had given him in the last ages of the world."

PUZZLES THE PHYSICIANS.

The Queer Case of a 13-Year-Old Boy Who Sees Things Reversed.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 17.—The case of Willie Riley, the 13-year-old boy who is an inmate of the Home for Feeble Minded at Vineland, N. J., is attracting the attention of the Neurological Society of this city. A prominent Philadelphia physician who has examined the boy says that the case is one of that rare class known as "mirror-writers." While writing he unwittingly reverses his letters so that they appear upon the paper as ordinary penmanship would be reflected by a mirror. He begins writing words or sentences in the upper right-hand corner of the paper and writes from right to left. The singular fact about his performance is that he cannot realize the oddity of his work. He does not understand that his writing differs from that of others.

Long-drawn scientific terms have been used to characterize his case. To laymen generally the case is pointed out as a result of a sunstroke in infancy. The boy's faculties have been twisted so that, although his eyes are apparently normal, he sees things upside down and wrong end foremost.

The boy was admitted to the training-school a few months ago. He was then unable to write. When placed in the writing class and a copy was set before him he seemed to understand what was expected and started to work. His teacher was surprised when she saw the letters he had formed upon his slate. They resembled nothing to her at first. Again and again she tried to teach him to begin at the proper point, but he invariably went astray.

His teacher thought his work was simply the result of awkwardness and feeble-mindedness. It was not until the boy had learned to form his letters fairly well, although reversed, that the situation dawned upon the teacher. She took some of the boy's work to Supt. S. O. Garrison, who found it to be genuine mirror writing. Ever since that day Willie Riley has been the subject of interested study.

So important is his case considered that Dr. Charles K. Mills, chief of the staff of consulting physicians, devotes considerable space to it in the annual report of the institution.

"This boy ranks high mentally as compared with other children in the institution," says Dr. Mills, "and would be classed among the highest grade of imbeciles. He fairly understands all ordinary matters, as telling the time of day, the use of common appliances, the value of coins and notes. He can repeat the alphabet, can read and spell words of one syllable. He is docile, sensitive and a somewhat emotional child. He was examined as to touch, pain, temperature, weight, resistance, etc., and no trace of disorder of sensibility was found. His hearing, smell and taste are good."

Dr. Mills goes on to say that the boy's vision is the same with both eyes and that he is not color blind. He has right side partial paralysis, with atrophy. As a result of this partial paralysis the boy's right forearm, hand and fingers are arrested in development. The right thumb is degressed and drawn under the index and middle fingers. His right leg is nicely formed, but is somewhat shorter than the other. The cause of his condition is said to have been a sunstroke followed by cerebro-meningitis when 18 months old.

Willie Riley appears to enjoy life. He is active in the gymnasium classes and has joined the band of the institution. He is a retiring, shy boy, however, and prefers to study whenever he has the chance.

Dr. Mills thinks the left half of the boy's brain has been arrested in development and that Willie is guided in his writing by the reversed images formed in the right hemisphere of his brain. The effect of the tuition and care bestowed upon him at the training school will be closely watched.

SLASHED HER LOVER.—Belle Smith, the dusky sweetheart of Scott Jackson, also colored, got jealous of Scott last night and, after a chase of several blocks, caught him in the vicinity of Eighth street and Clark avenue, and slashed him with a butcher knife. Belle was locked up while Scott was patched up at the City Dispensary.

THE RUSSIAN REFUGEES.

Two Able Men Will Interpose in Their Behalf.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—The Russian refugees, held in custody by the United States authorities until a settlement is effected between this Government and Russia, will have two able men to interfere in their behalf—Prof. Hourwich and Attorney Darrow of this city. Prof. Hourwich, who is a Russian lawyer himself, in speaking of the matter last evening, said:

"Of course the Russian Government will claim that these men are all criminal refugees. In case this claim is substantiated the refugees will be sent back to Siberia in accordance with an extradition treaty existing between this Government and Russia. But we, on the other hand, expect to prove that they are merely political refugees, in which case they will be released by the United States and and may become American citizens."

"How can you show that they are political refugees?"

"It has only been three years since I was in Siberia myself, and I have in my possession a list of 500 names of Siberian political refugees. Should the names of these ten men now held in San Francisco appear in this list the case will be settled, as the 500 names have all been authenticated. In the event of their names not appearing on the list, I feel confident that we will be able to find Russians in this country who knew the men in Siberia, and who will testify to the fact that they were political prisoners. At any rate, I think I shall be able to get them released from jail at once on a writ of habeas corpus. You might add," continued Mr. Hourwich, "that we have the sympathy, as far as I can learn, of every Russian in England and America. Every Russian society in the country will do all in their power to further our cause."

Knights and Ladies of Honor.

The Grand Lodge Knights and Ladies of Honor held a meeting yesterday and discussed affairs of the order generally. In the afternoon the officers elected at a previous meeting were installed and the following committees appointed: Laws—P. S. Drown, F. Y. Gottschalk and F. Cook. Finance—John S. Anderson, Joseph Abrams and E. V. Kyte. Appeals and Grievances—Philip Jacoby, Elias Diemthier and George McVey. The Grand Lodge then adjourned to meet on the second Thursday of June, 1895.

Cruel Man.

From the Texas Siftings.

Wife (severely): "John, you have wasted a great deal of money in your life."

Husband (meekly): "I know it, my dear."

"Well, don't you regret it?"

"There is a certain $5-bill I gave the minister that I shall never cease to regret, my love."

Very True.

From Truth.

Blim: "Confession is good for the soul."

Trim: "Yes; particularly when it is the sins of others."

WITH YOUR HANDS TIED by some chronic "female complaint" or weakness, what can you expect? There's nothing you can accomplish—nothing you can enjoy. And no good reason for it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure you, safely and certainly, if you'll give it faithful use.

For every one of these womanly troubles, this is the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, bearing-down sensations, organic displacements, and every kindred ailment, and in all the nervous disorders caused by functional derangements—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It's a potent remedy for Chorea or St. Vitus's Dance—for Insomnia or Inability to Sleep and to avert threatened insanity. It regulates all the natural functions, builds up and invigorates the entire female system, and restores health and strength.

Nothing else, though it may be better for a dealer to sell, can be "just as good" for you to buy.
